NO. 283—SIXTY-SIXTH YEAR

VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1924

TWENTY PAGES

FARM OUTPUT IN B.C. ON INCREASE

Production Value Rises Four Million Dollars in One Year, According to Minister of Agriculture's Report

WILL BE TAKEN IN LEGISLATURE TODAY

Fruit Grown in 1923 Reached Largest Figure on Record—Grain Acreage Larger—Decline in Some Branches

AGRICULTURAL products harvested in British Columbia during the year 1923 were nearly four million dollars in excess of the 1922 total, according to the eighteenth annual report of the Department of Agriculture, which is scheduled to be tabled in the House this afternoon by Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture. Total production in 1922, according to the report, was $55,322,971, and in 1923 $59,159,789. This represents an increase for the year over 1922 of 5.93 per cent.

The report shows increased development of outside markets of nearly six million dollars. Export livestock, dairy products, poultry products and hops showed substantial gains.

The fruit garnered in 1923 was the largest on record, amounting to nearly 177,000,000 pounds, exceeding the previous year by 85,000 pounds. The total value of the crop is placed at $6,034,976.

Vegetable crops for the year show a loss of 13,000 tons, the yield of potatoes being 5.80 tons per acre as against six tons per acre in 1922.

Hogher Acreage
The area sown to grains was 130,300 acres, an increase of 1,600. The total of all grains was 4,925,000 bushels, valued at nearly four million dollars. This represented an increase in production of 724,000 bushels.

Poultry crops showed a decrease of $154,607 in value, although the quantity of land planted was 4,582 acres greater in 1923.

Dairy products to the value of $3,230,000 are shown by the report as compared with $3,000,000 in 1922, an increase of $1,230,000. The quantity of fresh milk consumed in the Province during the year was 12,300,070 gallons, being a million and a quarter over the figure of 1922.

Value of livestock is reported as $15,920,023, an increase of $1,365,634. There are in the Province 54,017 horses, an increase of nearly 3,000 over the preceding year. The report shows a total of 117,143 dairy cattle, constituting an increase of 12,000 over the year 1922, but a decrease of 9,800 in the number of beef cattle in the Province.

Sheep showed an increase of 3,591, while swine and goats showed an increase of 1,107. The number of goats in the Province is approximately 9,000.

A decrease in value is reported in connection with poultry, although there was an increase in quantities produced, in poultry 12.3 per cent, and eggs 15.5.

Meats to the total of 25,038,379 pounds, at a value of $1,188,170, was produced, as compared with 23,142,411 pounds, valued at $1,413,911, in 1922.

Pill fairs held during the year numbered 78, showing an increase of 15. This is a decided increase from 59 during 1922. The total number of Farmers' Institutes at the close of the year was 145, being an increase of nine over 1922; aggregate number of members 8,643, as against 5,498 in 1922. Women's Institutes to the number of 111 showed a membership of 2,433.

Member for Saanich Tells Members of Legislature He Is Representing Modern Garden of Eden

VIGOROUSLY DEFENDS RACING INTERESTS

Exclusion of Light Wines Plebiscite Caused Loss to Government of Many Votes, Mr. Coventry Asserts

SAANICH is the modern Garden of Eden, according to Hon. T. G. Coventry, Conservative member for that riding, who yesterday delivered one of the finest addresses to be heard so far in the debate in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

In opening, Mr. Coventry stated that instead of talking about the virtues and wonders of his riding at the tail-end of his speech, the custom followed by previous speakers, he would tell about them first. Previous speakers had asked the House to believe that the districts which they represented were wonderfully beautiful, rich in resources, and each the abiding place of those people and things which were destined to make British Columbia the finest country on earth. He was willing to admit all such assertions if his claim, that Saanich was a second Garden of Eden was accepted.

Wants Road Building
Relative to assistance which the riding expected from the Government, Mr. Coventry mentioned the West Saanich Road. The Government and the municipality had in past years paved sections of the road on a fifty-fifty basis as to cost. There remained a little over a mile yet to be paved and he considered that the Government should stand in that case all the expense. In support of his argument, he pointed out that the Government had spent several thousands of dollars in establishing a ferry at Mill Bay in order that the surface of the Malahat Drive might be paved from too much traffic.

Completion of the West Road would serve a similar purpose, he declared, and consequently, it was felt that the Government should undertake the work.

Relative to 1.32 miles of road surfacing needed on the cross-road leading from the West Road to the farm, Mr. Coventry suggested that the Government should pay one-third, the City of Saanich two-thirds.

REVENUE IS LESS FOR SEVEN MONTHS

FALLS OFF DURING YEAR ABOUT ONE-EIGHTH

Net Debt of Dominion Now Nine Millions Less Than Twelve Months Ago

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—The net debt of Canada, decreased by $9,957,776 during the month of October in spite of a decrease of approximately $7,000,000 in ordinary revenue. The debt now stands at $2,378,549,075, as compared with $2,386,408,851 on September 30 last. Ordinary expenditure during the month of October was approximately $4,000,000 less than during September, amounting to $16,000,081. Last year the net debt of the Dominion decreased by $11,425,589 during October.

Ordinary revenues of the Dominion for the seven months of the fiscal year ended October 31 were $22,535,303 less than in the seven months' period of 1923-24, when it amounted to $24,749,945. There were marked decreases in revenue from customs, and excise taxes. Customs for the seven months of the present fiscal year amounted to $64,745,876, as against $73,157,372 for the same period a year ago. Excise tax collections this year totalled only $47,890,911 as compared with $73,229,911 in 1923-24 and income tax collections for the period of $47,681,290 last year to $50,614,911 this year.

Ordinary expenditure for the seven months just ended totalled $152,548,394, as compared with $154,769,532. The largest single item under this head, interest payments on the public debt, totalled $62,085,334, as compared with $63,838,121 a year ago.

ARREST VANCOUVER MAN IN CALIFORNIA

Mr. J. F. C. Menlove Taken in Charge at San Francisco as Fugitive From Justice

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—J. F. C. Menlove, a former director of the Northwestern Life Assurance Company, of Vancouver, B.C., office, according to advice from Canada, was arrested here tonight on a charge of being a fugitive from justice. Local authorities said that Menlove is wanted in Winnipeg on a charge of conspiracy. They had telegraphed the chief of police of that city to forward by air mail the warrant for Menlove and to send for him. It could not be ascertained tonight whether Menlove would fight extradition.

Conservative Leader Here Today

HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN

That the result of the by-election at Yale was the forerunner of the defeat of the Liberal Government at Ottawa was the statement made by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, at a meeting held in New Westminster last night. Mr. Meighen said it was a tribute to the voters and to his audience that Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King had made one of his last stands in the Dominion. Mr. Meighen dealt generally with several problems facing the Government, and stressed the necessity of the building of a railway to the Peace River country.

NO REVERSAL OF POLICIES OF TORIES

NEW HOME SECRETARY AD- DRESSES PRIMROSE LEAGUE

Declares Party Must Adopt Lord Beaconsfield's Advice to "Educate" People as to Socialism

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Presiding at a meeting of the Primrose League last night, Sir Wm. Joynson-Hicks, the Home Secretary, said he did not believe for a moment that there were many Socialists in Great Britain to-day and expressed the opinion that more than half the 5,525,000 people who had voted thus in the recent general election had done so because they wanted to vote for candidates of their own class without regard to Socialism.

The Conservative Party in the next few years, Sir William said, should adopt the words of Lord Beaconsfield, "Educate, educate, educate," and get the people to realize that the Socialist Party was not really the Labor Party, nor the party of the working man. They must get the working man to realize that the Socialist Party was quite distinct from the Labor Party's interests and interests of social reform.

No Reversal of Policy
Mr. Baldwin was determined there should be no reversal of policy of the Conservative Party, Sir William continued. "This time we do intend to carry out the pledges we have given our constituents. We mean to see that the great masses of working men and women who undoubtedly put us into power shall be perfectly satisfied when the next election comes that we at least have done our best to improve their position in the world and make it easier for them to improve their own position."

The Conservatives must rule when in power so that when the next election comes there should be no wavering. Sir William said. They must govern for the good of the whole country.

The Duke of Sutherland said that he believed that unless Conservatives fully and properly played their part in the next five years, the votes cast in the recent election might easily be reversed. Their motto must be "Costs off and no armchair."

Victims of Pneumonic Plague Still Increasing

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16.—Two deaths today from pneumonic plague increased the toll to twenty-eight victims since the disease originated in the Mexican quarter here October 29.

Four new cases have been discovered in the Mexican sector and in the Belvedere district, eight miles from here, in the past 24 hours. The total of cases at present is thirty-seven.

REPUBLICANS GET CONTROL OF HOUSE

Coolidge Supporters Claim Twenty-Eight Majority

Standing of Two Parties in Senate Still Awaits Final From Several States

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—On the eve of the election, which saw President Coolidge back into office, the Republicans have come into actual as well as nominal control of the next House of Representatives.

Whether they also will have the whiphand in the Senate still depends on the outcome of contests in several states.

With a single House district still in doubt the Republicans have captured 256 seats on the face of unofficial returns. This is an increase of 21 over their present strength and 25 of a majority.

Control of House
Leaders of the party regard this margin as sufficient to leave them in control, particularly as to organization in the face of any coalition between the La Follette insurgents and Democrats, such as tied organization of the present House for many days and successfully challenged a number of administration proposals.

With related returns showing the re-election of E. E. Warren in Wyoming, the Republicans in the Senate had increased their majority, from the bare 49 to 52. Included in this, however, were Senator La Follette and at least three others of his supporters.

MR. GROTE STIRLING

PREDICTS ERA OF PROSPERITY HERE

DR. D. E. KER SAYS VICTORIA OF FUTURE WILL BE GREAT

Tells Chamber of Commerce Annual Meeting Victorians Have Every Reason to Feel Optimistic

Prediction that Victoria and Vancouver Island would achieve far greater growth and progress in the next ten years than they have done during the past thirty-five years was made, amid cheers, by Dr. D. E. Ker, of Duncan, president of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island, in speaking last night at the annual meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, held in the auditorium of the chamber.

Dr. Ker extended congratulations to the Chamber of Commerce for the splendid community work in which it was engaged, and referred to the fact that it was confining its efforts not only to the advancement of Victoria but also to ushering in an era of prosperity in all parts of Vancouver Island. He stated that the chamber had taken the initiative in fostering a spirit of co-operation and unity from one end of the Island to the other.

"Let us compare the Victoria of today with the place that it was twenty years ago, and then visualize the Victoria of tomorrow with the Victoria of today. I say that Victoria has made substantial growth and has developed greatly, and its citizens have reason to feel truly optimistic as to its future, which is bound to be great," Dr. Ker declared, amid applause.

The speaker thought that chambers of commerce and boards of trade should make it their duty to inculcate true Canadian citizenship, asserting that if they did this every-thing that they sought would follow. He emphasized the importance of everyone taking an interest in public affairs and said that citizens should insist on the same capacity and honesty on the part of those in public life as they demand in private life.

Dr. Ker stressed the importance of good roads and their maintenance, stating that it was not the mission of the chamber to suggest to the Government how the roads should be built, but draw to its attention the necessity for good roads and their up-keep, and request a fair share in the appropriation of money for roads in the Province. He said that people should get behind the Government and assist in every possible way in the solution of the great problems before the Province.

UNITED STATES TO COLLECT WAR DEBT

France to Supply Quarter Billion and Interest Cost of American Army on Rhine

PARIS, Nov. 6.—Premier Herriot, as Minister of Foreign Affairs, today said before the Chamber a proposal calling for ratification of the agreement for the reimbursement of the United States for the cost of maintenance of the American army of occupation in the Rhineland. The agreement was approved by the Foreign Office committee of the Chamber in May, 1923.

Representatives of the United States and of the Allied Powers signed an agreement in Paris, May 25, 1923, providing for repayment to the United States of $250,000,000, the cost of the American army in the Rhineland. Under the agreement payment was to be made in twelve equal installments, with interest.

THREATEN TIE-UP OF AUSTRALIAN SHIPPING

General Stoppage of Work on Entire Waterfront May Result From Action of Seamen

MELBOURNE, Nov. 6.—A general stoppage of work along the whole of Australia's waterfront is threatened as a result of the seamen here declining to provide steam for cranes and donkey engines for use by wharf laborers working overtime. The position is complicated by the Waterfront Workers' Federation prohibiting trade unionists from working on the Commonwealth's new ocean liner Pennamaddy, because the Seamen's Union suspended the crew of the Commonwealth's liner, Portadale, while the Stewards' Union refused to replace thirty-seven stewards whom the management of one of the Commonwealth's liners dismissed because they refused to attend two passengers on the last voyage from Australia to London.

YALE REMAINS IN TORY FOLD

Mr. Grote Stirling Is Conceded Victory in Federal By-Election Over Mr. D. W. Sutherland

MAJORITY OF 419 WITH EIGHT POLLS OMITTED

Kelowna Gave Liberal Candidate Lead of 201—Hon. S. F. Tolmie Speaks of Yesterday's Contest

VERNON, Nov. 6.—Yale constituency remains in the Conservative column, Grote Stirling, the Conservative, having defeated Daniel W. Sutherland, his Liberal opponent, in the Federal by-election today. With all of the main centres in and eight small polls missing at 9:30 p.m., Mr. Stirling had a majority of 419. One hundred and two polls out of 110 gave Stirling 6,600, Sutherland 6,186. In the last election J. A. McKelvie defeated Mr. Sutherland by a majority of 542.

A fairly heavy vote was polled as the weather was fair and the roads good.

Kelowna, Penticton, Peachland, Armstrong, Coldstream, Grand Forks, Hedley and East Kelowna gave the Conservative candidate good majorities. The voting in Vernon was fairly close, giving Stirling a margin of only 57. In Kelowna Sutherland received the expected good support, obtaining a lead of 201. Ellison, Lumby, River Creek and Osoyoos also gave him a majority. The remaining polls will not affect the result, and Conservative leaders tonight predicted that Stirling's majority would reach 480.

Hon. S. F. Tolmie Speaks
VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—Election of the Conservative candidate in the Yale by-election was a foregone conclusion and only what might naturally have been expected, it was stated tonight by Hon. Dr. R. F. Tolmie, general organizer for the Conservative Party. Dr. Tolmie, who took an active part in the campaign, said he did not think the result could be interpreted as representing any sweeping change in sentiment throughout the Province, as this was a decidedly Conservative constituency and the seat had been retained, which under the circumstances by which it became vacant was only natural.

After visiting Victoria for a day with Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen and attending the banquet for the Conservative leader in Vancouver, on Thursday night, Dr. Tolmie will leave for the East to take part in the contest in East Hastings.

MONTREAL POLICE CAPTAIN PROSPERS

AVERAGES FOUR THOUSAND PER YEAR OUT OF RACING

In Addition Paid Twenty Per Cent of His Profit to Jockey Who Placed Money

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—Fifteen thousand five hundred dollars won on the race tracks in four years, in addition to a twenty per cent commission paid to the individual placing the bets, was the profit which he claimed to have won, according to the testimony of Captain Sauve, of the local police, given today before Mr. Justus Gosselin, who is investigating the state of affairs existing in the Montreal police force. Captain Sauve was the only witness heard, and his financial affairs were subjected to scrutiny by J. P. Lacombe, K.C., counsel for the investigation petitioners, and also by his Lordship. The captain gave a detailed account of his winnings since 1920. In that year he had gained $3,000; in 1921, $8,000; in 1922, $3,000; and in 1923, $3,000.

A man named Jack Curley, an ex-jockey, whose present whereabouts Captain Sauve did not know, had placed his bets and received a commission amounting to twenty per cent of the proceeds, the witness stated. Captain Sauve's financial standing put him in the $20,000 class.

DENOTES WISH FOR QUIET STABLE RULE

BRITISH PRESS GIVES OPINION ON U.S. ELECTIONS
America in Common With Great Britain in No Mood for Experiments of Progressivism

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The outstanding point of the bulk of London newspaper comment on the American election is that it emphasizes the prevailing desire of the democracies of the world for a period of quiet, stable government, and that the people of America are, no more than those of Great Britain, in a mood for the experiments of progressivism. The Conservative Daily Telegraph regards the outcome "as a much more amazing triumph than that of the Conservative Party in Great Britain."

Anticipating that the policy of the last four years will be continued and that America's adherence to the League of Nations is still out of the question, the Telegraph says that, "nevertheless, the reality of the Republican Government's desire to see effective American co-operation in world's work of recovery from the war receives a new demonstration from the election of General Dawes as vice-President."

Socialist Tide Spent
The Independent Daily Mail sees in the result "another sign that Socialism is far from being a rising tide in a spent wave. . . . The utter rout, which has overtaken the La Follette speaks as well for the soundness of the people of the United States as the complete defeat of the Socialists here does for the political health of Great Britain."

The Conservative Post says: "The American people clearly are in no mood for revolutionary economic change. The supreme service which the United States has rendered to a world tossed hither and thither by the tempests of doubt and daring change has been its steadfast reliance on tradition. Its proud allegiance to its pledged word and its detestation of anarchy and violence. The United States is one of the great bulwarks which have manfully withstood the Bolshevik storm and the decision, which reveals the steady and sane American public opinion, is bound to be welcomed with relief by the civilized world."

BRITISH LIBERAL LEADERS CONFER

Four Chiefs of Defeated Party Meet at Mr. Asquith's Home to Consider Plans

LONDON, Nov. 5.—That the Liberal Party in the United Kingdom is not dead by any means though immediately after the general elections of last Wednesday sundry persons, more or less prominent in politics, declared that it was dead, is seen in a conference of four Liberal leaders at Mr. Asquith's residence today.

The conference was called for the purpose of considering the Liberal Party's future.

The four in attendance at the conference were Mr. Asquith, Mr. Lloyd George, Sir Donald MacLean and Walter Luncford, a minister in the government when Mr. Asquith was Premier.

The General added that he was quite satisfied with his trip to Canada and that the Salvation Army was forging ahead from Coast to Coast.

Oddities in the News

Cures for Sick Fish—Monkey Man Stirrs Campus—Castle Wedding Lure to Ex-Monarchs

Live turkeys, shipped into the city from Duncan for the Thanksgiving trade, may be seen today for the first time in Victoria at the poultry shop of John Day, 613 Yates Street.

The bird, a cross between the turkey and the chicken, has the face and coloring of the latter but the length and eating qualities of the former. Its weight is about seven pounds, whereas an average turkey weighs about sixteen.

The skin of the turkey is delicate like that of the turkey and is without the pin feathers that are regarded as one of the chicken's drawbacks. Another of its qualities as a table bird is its size. Many consider that it strikes a happy medium between the chicken and the turkey in this respect.

Mr. Day, who thinks the turkey has a promising future in the poultry field, will have a specimen in his shop window today.

SEATTLE, Nov. 6.—Proper treatment and cures for sick fish is being taught at the University of Washington this quarter, the first course of its kind to be given anywhere in the United States. The course is offered in the college of fisheries and is being taught by Professor John Guberlet, of the zoology department, who is an expert on fish diseases and parasites. The course is called "Fish Diseases."

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—Do human beings as well as monkeys, have tails?

They do, if two seemingly authentic photographs received in the department of anthropology at the University of California are genuine.

The pictures show an Igorite Indian from the island of Luzon in the Philippines with a tail several inches in length flourishing from the lower end of his back-bone.

In other respects the owner of the appendage appears practically normal, though his teeth have a somewhat primate appearance and his jaw is slightly underdeveloped.

Professor L. Kroeber, chairman of the department of anthropology, and the curator of the university museum, said there have been one or two instances recorded in the past of men being born with tails comparable to those of lower animals, but that this is the first of an individual actually bearing one which has come to his notice.

Every human being, however, he added, has the vestige of a tail curled up at the end of the spinal column, and it is a tail just as conclusively as if it were hanging outside.

DRESDEN, Germany, Nov. 6.—Byllenberg Castle, the abode of the former ruler of Saxony, harbored many former royal guests recently, when Anna, the daughter of ex-king Frederick August of Saxony, became the bride of Archduke Joseph Francis of Austria.

The wedding was a most magnificent affair, the most magnificent in Saxony since the reign of the German ex-king prince and ex-crown princess, ex-king Ferdinand of Bulgaria, the ex-king of Saxony, and numerous Austrian and German ex-princes and ex-princesses.

An unusual feature of the wedding was the fact that the marriage was performed by the former crown prince of Saxony, George. He became a Catholic priest soon after the revolution.

INCREASE SHOWN IN FIELD CROPS ACREAGE

About Seven Hundred Thousand More Acres Sown in Dominion in Season of 1924

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—It is estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics that more than 56,000,000 acres were devoted to field crops in Canada in 1924 as compared with 55,310,000 acres in 1923. Wheat occupied 22,504,658 acres, a decrease of 187,206 acres from last year, due to the late-ness of the season's seeding.

There were 14,480,568 acres of oats sown, a slight increase over last year. The number of horses in Canada increased in 1924 by more than 100,000, there being 3,144,232 horses claimed as farm livestock. The cattle population of Canada (exclusive of British Columbia) is 3,193,714.

FEARS CANCER AMONG MOTOR MECHANICS

Cornell Professor Warns of Danger to Engineers Owing to Oil on Hands and Arms

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—The medical profession should interest itself in cancer prevention before conducting a research into what cancer really is, believes Dr. James Ewing, Professor of Pathology at Cornell Medical School, who addressed the Ontario Academy of Medicine here yesterday.

A few of the striking statements made by Dr. Ewing were:

"That a more violent use of soap and water would prevent much of the cancer of the skin."

"Cancer of the stomach was seldom developed from ulcers of the stomach."

"Cancer was usually caused by constant irritation over a considerable period of time, that he expected to see a large increase in the number of cancer cases among automobile mechanics due to their hands and arms being coated with oil."

ALLEGED DEFAULTER RELEASED ON BAIL

Secretary-Treasurer of Northwest Life Assurance Company Gives $100,000 Security

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6.—Francis O. Maher, secretary-treasurer of the Northwestern Life Assurance Company, Northwestern Trust Company, and Northwestern General Insurance Company, was released on $100,000 bail last evening, following his arrest on Wednesday. The charge stated in the warrant was "conspiracy to defraud the shareholders and creditors," naming the Northwestern Life Assurance Company, Northwestern Trust Company, Manitoba Oil Products, Ltd., the Home Appliances Company, the Northwestern Construction Company, and the Northwestern General Insurance Company, all closely connected with the other Northwestern interests.

An investigation of the affairs of the companies in which 2,700 shareholders are said to be interested, was recently held.

He was released from custody on bail of $100,000, said to be the heaviest bond imposed by the local municipal court.

PREMIER TASCHEREAU EXPRESSES NO DISMAY

Loss of Quebec County by Election on Wednesday Does Not Signify, He Declares

QUEBEC, Nov. 6.—Premier Taschereau expresses no dismay at the loss of Quebec County in yesterday's elections, declaring the victory of the Conservative candidate, L. Boudin, was due solely to his personal popularity. Everywhere else the people "showed they still have confidence in us," he said.

Arthur Sauve, opposition, said he was satisfied with the result. He would have preferred victory for all the Conservative candidates. He thanked the electors "who gave us their support and fought against corruption."

The Liberals retained Bonaventure, St. Maurice and St. Anne, while the Conservatives retained Sherbrooke and brought their total strength in the House of 55 to 22 by taking Quebec from the Liberals.

COMBINE FOR CROW'S NEST FREIGHT RATES

Alaska and Saskatchewan Will Unite With Manitoba in Demand for Reimbursement

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6.—Both Alberta and Saskatchewan will co-operate to the fullest extent with Manitoba in doing everything possible for the reimbursement of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement rates, according to statements made here last night, following a meeting of the Attorney-Generals of the Prairie Provinces and H. J. Byington, M.C., counsel representing the provinces.

"The Prairie Provinces will stand shoulder to shoulder in the matter," said Hon. J. E. Brownlee, Attorney-General for Alberta, "and not a stone will be left unturned to attain what all we in the West desire."

Hon. James A. Cross, Attorney-General for Saskatchewan, was equally as earnest in stating that Saskatchewan was solid behind the movement.

PAY MORE FOR BOOKS THAN IN VANCOUVER

Text Book Prices Here from 15 to 25% Higher Than in Montreal, Labor Council is Told

Prices of school text-books in Victoria are from 15 to 25% higher than they are in Vancouver, Mr. Charles Copeland, president of the Trades and Labor Council has informed that body.

"That information has been confirmed by a high educational authority, although it would be improper to mention his name," Secretary Woodward declared.

The matter arose after the reading of a letter from the Minister of Education replying to the charge that constant changes in text-book requirements caused parents unnecessary expense.

A geography textbook which had been in use for twenty years was the only one changed in the public schools this year, the Minister stated in his letter. A new history had been authorized for the schools but every effort was made to avoid expense to parents. It was necessary to keep text-books up-to-date. The question of authorizing school boards to buy and sell textbooks was being considered by the Department of Education.

Reopen Lutheran Schools
ADELAIDE, South Australia, Nov. 6.—In the Legislative Assembly here yesterday the government gave its support to a bill authorizing the reopening of the Lutheran schools in South Australia. Several speakers pointed out that Germany was no longer an enemy of the country.

CHURCH UNION BILL MEETS SECOND SNAG

Attorney-General Suggests That Man Who Signed Petition Might Be Deceased

No sooner had Mr. Speaker Buckham ruled, in the Legislature yesterday, Ian Mackenzie's point of order against admission of the Church Union Bill presented by Gen. V. W. Odium was not well taken than Attorney-General Manson intervened with another. Mr. Mackenzie claimed the Presbyterian General Assembly had not power to sign the petition, which, the Speaker ruled, was a point of order. Mr. Manson, however, demanded that assurances be received that Rev. James Pedley, signatory for the Presbyterian Church, was still alive. Either he or his brother, Rev. Hugh Pedley, had died recently, he stated, and as the House could not receive a petition from one who is not alive, the Speaker stood the petition over until the assurance demanded had been given.

"Hope this isn't going to develop into another holy war," commented Major Dick Burke.

ROYALTIES ACT IS CONDEMNED

Mr. Michael Manson, Conservative Member for Mackenzie, Vigorously Defends Lumbering Industry of B.C.

SUGGESTS NEW PLAN OF TIMBER TAXATION

Holds That Equity of People Is in Original Value of Logs and Not in Products of Manufacturing Mills

THE case of the lumbering interests of British Columbia relative to the agitation for a revision downwards of timber royalties, was ably presented in the Legislature yesterday by Mr. Michael Manson, Conservative member for the constituency of Mackenzie, when he spoke in the debate in reply to the Speech from the Throne. Mr. Manson showed that he possessed a deep understanding of the problems which face the lumbermen and he urged upon the Government the wisdom of amending the Timber Royalties Act of 1914 and giving consideration to the representations made for decreasing the burden of taxation upon the industry.

Mr. Manson said that he objected to the optimistic tone in the lumbering industry contained in the speeches of the mover and seconder of the reply to the Speech from the Throne. There was small basis for such optimism, he contended, and he held that, coming from the greatest lumber-producing district of the Province, he should give credit for knowing those things whereof he spoke.

Timber Royalties

He had attended the meeting between a deputy minister of the Interior and the Premier and Minister of Lands, and like the Premier, he had been disappointed in the arguments presented by the lumbermen. Their whole case had been summed up in a statement or ultimatum that if the Government imposed the increased royalties as now proposed, they would be forced to suspend operations, and to leave the Province. Their whole case had been summed up in a statement or ultimatum that if the Government imposed the increased royalties as now proposed, they would be forced to suspend operations, and to leave the Province.

Notwithstanding the failure of the deputations to present information to back up their position, however, Mr. Manson held that relief from the proposed increase was an absolute essential, and he held that it was the duty of the Government to provide it in some tangible form. He pointed out that the present act had been passed in 1914 at the request of the lumbermen themselves, but was of the opinion that even at that time the measure did not equitably meet the situation. He was convinced, he said, that the royalties should not be based upon the selling price of logs. The people had an equity in the forests of the Province, but he held that their equity did not extend to the manufactured product. Consequently he believed that royalties should be based on the trees as they stood.

A New Basis of Taxation

He realized fully, he said, that such a method of charging royalties would be a difficult one to put into force, because it would involve the possession by the Government of exact information concerning every transaction in timber lands made. It would be easy to camouflage such deals, but he believed that a system of charging royalties on the selling price of logs at the mills could be worked out practically and fairly to all parties.

Mr. Manson criticized the method of charging royalties under the present system. The spread between charges on logs and on lumber and three logs was out of proportion in comparison to the selling price of such grades. The discrimination on No. 3 logs was causing in many instances such grade being left in the woods. Such a proceeding resulted in a loss to the Province and created an additional fire hazard. He pointed out that the equity of the people was in the original value of the logs and not after their value had been increased by transportation costs.

Mr. Manson criticized modern logging methods as practiced throughout the Province. Small timber and second-growth trees were being destroyed. From five to twenty per cent of the timber logged off various areas was being destroyed because it consisted of small stuff and No. 3 logs, which were left as they fell in the Eastern provinces, he said, sawmills were equipped with machinery to handle small logs, but such was not the universal case in British Columbia. Experiments were being made at Powell River with a view to saving the young growth, he declared, and he believed that such efforts should receive the best encouragement of the Government. The Powell River people were endeavoring to use the material looked upon under present methods as "debris" by converting it into wood pulp.

The Small Logger

The speaker urged upon the Government the wisdom of encouraging the small logger by decreasing the tax against his product. The life of such men was difficult, he maintained, and the Government should not hold them up for the last ten cent piece.

Referring again to the timber royalties subject, Mr. Manson suggested that in making the Province government should divide the Province into three zones instead of two. The timber was not so good in the northern sections as it was in the southern and consequently logging was more difficult and more expensive. Until a just basis of fixing taxation was founded, the speaker predicted that there would always be trouble.

The Session

Vancouver's Place in the Sun—Mr. Speaker Is Adroit—The Voice of Labor—And the Third Party

The Press Gallery, Thursday.

The proud and premier city of Vancouver, looking round in the House, through the eyes of its six members, looks in vain for any visible sign that its just claims to a place in the sun of Cabinet representation are to receive any immediate recognition from this Government. It is true that Vancouver City has sent five Liberals to this House. It is true that Hon. John Oliver, a practical-minded Premier, who resolutely refuses to hitch the wagon of his political destiny to any star outside his own planetary system, is well aware of that fact. It is true that Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, fifth member for Vancouver, has been elevated to the leadership of the party in the city of Vancouver, or anywhere else, for that matter, are anathema to the presiding geniuses of this Government.

At this juncture, then, it becomes relevant to consider the chaotic demeanor, the irreproachable deportment, in this House, of the fourth member for Vancouver City. The lobby echoes with whispers of the name of Capt. Ian Mackenzie. He is grooming, so the pundits persist, for a seat at the cabinet table, of course, but later on, when the burden and heat of this session have been borne, and when memories of the last election have faded longer to grow faint in the minds of the free and untrammeled electorate. Later on, it is discreetly hinted, if everything goes well, and the gallant and honorable fourth member registers the necessary impression upon the minds and hearts of his countrymen, it will be found possible, it will be found advisable, to create a minister without portfolio, and it may chance, in the vicissitudes of practical statesmanship, that that portfolio be well bestowed on Capt. Mackenzie.

"It's this way," said the veteran and hard-bitten member for Mary Todd Island, a seat at the cabinet table, in Vancouver, any more than you would jump off a high bridge for exercise. But they don't need a by-election to make a minister without portfolio. They figure that if Vancouver gets a minister, any sort of minister, it will sort of take Vancouver out of the present campaign, and later on, perhaps, the city may become a little more friendly to them. And the captain is the man for their money. This figure he is a good speaker, and he is a good speaker, one of the best in the House. He is certified as all present and correct in the past ranks. He is the only available Vancouver Liberal with previous House experience. He has friends, ambition, and a not inadequate sense of his own value to the party. He is known as a true-blue Western Presbyterian, and I don't need to tell you that that sort of thing does a man more good than harm in politics. So you just sit around this session, my son, and watch for the jumping of the cat, and maybe you'll see what you will see."

Mr. Speaker gave his first ruling on a point of order today, and his delicate treading, for a large man new to the brittle exigencies of politics, was done to the admiration of the oldest veterans. He ruled on the point raised last Wednesday by Mr. Mackenzie, as Mackenzie, in the validity of the petition of the Presbyterian Church for the projected bill on Church Union. In brief, Mr. Speaker ruled that the petition might be made—and that all the questions raised by Capt. Mackenzie were for the proper consideration of the committee on bills. It was nearly done. It passed on, unopposed and uneluded, all the knotty problems raised by the point of order, which so clean to the heart of all the issues involved in the whole question of Church Union by act of Parliament. The only thing it did not do was to guarantee the House against the possible outbreak of what the honorable member for Alberni, in a characteristic interjection, envisaged as a "new Holy War."

New ground was broken in the resumed debate on the Address today, when the voices of the Provincial and Labor parties were raised for the first time in this House. The respective champions of these several causes were new members, and, by the consent of all hands, acquitted themselves well in their first assay against the genial but resolute silence of the Government benches. For the strategy decreed by the high command of the Government was that the will not be lured into unwary speech until the leader of the Opposition had had his say. Not all the slings of the Labor members were combined arrows of Provincials and Conservatives will induce this Government, secure in the approval of its own conscience, to consume the public time in decorative debate until the country has been well convinced that nothing but the carping criticism of the Opposition stands between the country and that retrenchment which the country is supposed to demand. And meanwhile, Mr. Pooley, to the last fold of that experienced mantle which fell upon him from the shoulders of Mr. Bowser, is determined that he will not speak until his own good time. That time, it is reported, will not be until his principal lieutenant, Mr. J. W. Jones, Royston, again, who is absent from his place, has taken his seat for the first time this session. Mr. Jones is expected here early next week.

The House heard three new members today, but before they spoke it was instructed and entertained by a very interesting and amusing speech in the person of Mr. Michael Manson, Conservative member for the riding of Comox. He sat in the House years ago. In the late fifties, and his look behind his spectacles is still keen. He is a good, an arresting speaker. The House heard him with respect on that the two representatives of his riding who had succeeded in preceding him in the House had each become Speaker in turn, he plausibly hoped, considering what had afterwards happened to both of them at the polls, that no such honor, and fate, was in store for himself. As one who came from a berry-growing district, he explained how it was that men who had never voted dry before had voted dry in the recent beer plebiscite, because light wines had not been coupled with the malt liquor in that question. He charged the Government with doing nothing for the berry growers, and he said that the Nemesis of that government had fallen upon the Government, as was to be seen in the fact that every berry-growing district in the Province had gone Opposition at the last election.

THE BRITISH CABINET

The leading figures in the new British Cabinet are already widely known to political fame. It is a Cabinet of experienced administrators; those who know their country and its problems well. Some surprise may be occasioned because the Marquis Curzon was not chosen for the post of Foreign Secretary. The probability is that he declined and expressed a desire for a post to which so much labor and responsibility were not attached. The new Foreign Secretary is Mr. Austen Chamberlain, an appointment that will inspire confidence in every capital. Since Mr. Churchill aligned himself with the cause of the Conservative Party one of his talents could not be omitted from any Cabinet. He has been selected for one of the most important posts, that of Chancellor of the Exchequer, where his well-known industry and experience will find full scope. Comment will be made on the fact that such an outstanding leader should have been selected for this portfolio, but it is tantamount to a laying of emphasis on the promise made by Mr. Baldwin that he would not interpret the recent Conservative victory as in any sense a mandate for the introduction of a policy of tariff reform.

Mr. William C. Briddeman is First Lord of the Admiralty. He is not new to Cabinet rank and has had a wide experience. Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, who goes to the War Office, was a Minister in the former Baldwin Government, as was Sir Samuel Hoare, the new Air Minister. The Home Secretary, as predicted, is Sir William Joynson-Hicks. The Earl of Birkenhead is Secretary for India, an appointment which will doubtless arouse criticism because of his outspoken views, but his capabilities for that delicate task few can question. The Colonial Secretary is Lieut.-Col. L. C. M. Amery, who was First Lord of the Admiralty in the last Baldwin administration. All parties will probably agree that no more excellent choice could have been made for the post of Lord Chancellor than that of Viscount Cave. He filled the position most acceptably before and can always be relied upon to carry out the high traditions of the woolsack.

The omission of Sir Robert Horne from the list of principal office-holders is probably due to his own desire. There is no doubt that he was invited to join the Government. Mr. Baldwin had an imposing array of talent from which to select his Ministry, but there does not appear to have been much doubt in his mind as he has accomplished his task, as far as the principal ministers are concerned, without any undue loss of time. Such colleagues as he has chosen will need little time to settle down to the duties for which they are so well equipped. It is a strong Cabinet in every sense, one that will inspire confidence throughout the country and much further afield. It is a Cabinet well calculated to give Britain stability and earn the respect of the world. Among ultra-Conservatives the inclusion of Mr. Winston Churchill may be questioned as a doubtful experiment. Among those who estimate government from the standpoint of merit and ability and capacity to govern it will be regarded as an excellent move, and an illustration that Mr. Baldwin is strong enough to be the maker of his own Cabinet. Time, undoubtedly, will justify his selection in respect to Mr. Churchill, as well as in the matter of the rest of his administration.

YALE BY-ELECTION

The return of Mr. Grote Stirling, the Conservative candidate in the Yale by-election, does not alter the standing in the Federal House of Commons. Mr. Stirling has a majority approximately the same as that given to the late Mr. McKelvie at the general election. It is a handsome majority and indicates conclusively that the people of that portion of British Columbia are opposed to the Liberal policies of Ottawa. It is no secret that the Government expected to wrest Yale from the Conservatives. It was in order to campaign there that Mr. Mackenzie King extended his Western tour. The management of the Liberal campaign was in the hands of Dr. J. H. King, the Minister of Public Works, and no avenues which it was believed would lead to the success of the Government's candidate were left unexplored. If it was a case of personal influence that governed the fortunes of the campaign then Mr. Arthur Meighen, the Conservative leader, must have exercised a greater sway than the Prime Minister. We rather think, however, that the presence of these two leaders did not effect the result. British Columbia is Conservative in its Federal politics, more so now than at the time of the last election when a majority of Conservative candidates were returned by the Province.

Mr. Grote Stirling is highly spoken of in his district and he will add strength to British Columbia's cause at Ottawa. It is a matter of congratulation to Mr. Meighen and the Conservative Party that Yale should have given renewed emphasis to the verdict it gave in the general election. Mr. Mackenzie King, by his wooing of the Progressives, may be gaining ground in the Prairie Provinces, but he is not in British Columbia. This Province favors tariff protection. It does not approve of tampering with the National Policy. Yale was tempted to renounce its allegiance to the Conservative cause, but has withstood the temptation. Its voters will be all the happier in having stuck to their political convictions, and they will have an excellent member in Mr. Stirling.

POPPY DAY

The Armistice Period Committee has developed Poppy Day as an institution in our midst. It is a Dominion-wide reminder of what it celebrates. Specifically it is devised for the purpose of commemorating the preliminary hush of peace which fell on the battlefields of France and Belgium on November 11, 1918, though it has developed with another significance in that it is seized upon as an occasion for the perpetuation of a fund out of which relief is given to those who have been broken in the war. Tomorrow there will be a tag day of which poppies will be the emblem. The money raised by it will alleviate poverty and suffering among ex-servicemen and their dependents. It is a cause to which all must lend a sympathetic ear, and there is an earnest that they will if they may judge by the experience of the past.

On Sunday the annual parade and Memorial Service will be held, the latter on the Parliament Buildings Square. It should be emphasized that this Memorial Service, though organized by the Armistice Period Committee is in no way intended to be confined to veterans of the war. It is for all to participate. It is a service for those who died for their country, and a service perpetuating public thanks for the peace which followed the sacrifice of so much life. It is the most solemn anniversary that we commemorate, and we commemorate it in common with every community throughout the Empire. There is no anniversary which should give rein to a more spontaneous demonstration of public gratitude and public remembrance of the courageous and self-sacrificing deeds of the war. For these reasons there should be a thoroughly representative concourse at the Memorial Service on Sunday.

ABSENTEE POLLING

After all the criticism aroused by the counting of the absentee vote at the last Provincial election, the suggestion that such a vote should be abolished ought to be taken into serious consideration by the Government. The absentee vote, no matter what the safeguards may be, will continue to be the basis of charges made against the Government in power. The suspicions engendered may be wholly false but they exist, and it is essential that any possibility of their arising should be removed. It is no more necessary here than anywhere else to have an absentee vote. In countries which have had systems of government far longer than British Columbia the absentee vote has never been given consideration and those governments are equally responsive to the public will. In many cases more responsive than in our Provincial administration. Colonel F. Lister, the subject for Creston, has raised the subject in the Legislature. He suggests advance polls as an alternative. It is not clear that this suggestion would remove the liability of suspicion of tampering with the ballot boxes. The simplest and the most appealing way to the people as a whole is to complete polling and counting of the ballots within a single day. Our election system is too cumbersome as it is and needs reform.

Both women and men with serpents' tongues are coming in for a good deal of criticism in these days. Here is an excerpt from The London Daily Chronicle on the subject. "When people show an eagerness to discover and dissect the faults of others, it is not because of envy and hatred so much as because of cowardice; sub-consciously they want to fortify their own self-esteem, and in order to do so they will clutch at the circumstance which, by contrast, makes their own circumstances seem more fortunate or imposing. If the motive is cowardice, it follows that the remedy is courage; the bravest men can afford to be generous."

Mr. C. F. Davie, the member for Cowichan-Newcastle, made an excellent impression in his maiden speech in the Legislature. The district which he represents bids fair to find in him a member who will not be satisfied with evasive answers to its claims for consideration and the Province as a whole will gain by the breadth of his outlook on its problems.

In 1921, in Cook County, Illinois, 540 persons were killed by motor cars. In the days of horse-drawn vehicles this record of mortality was never touched, yet it is our privilege to think we grow more civilized all the time.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

A gentleman named Booth Tarkington, a gentleman of considerable brilliance in the literary firmament of the present day, has been tracing the mysterious human "urge" away back to its point of origin in a prehistoric bug. We do not like that new notion, "urge." Nor do we like that other noun that at least is new to us, the noun "complex." We do not believe they adorn the already sufficiently comprehensive English language.

But none of these things has anything to do with our present case. Mr. Tarkington took about half a page of The Sunday Colonist to tell us what was told the world a good many years ago by a gentleman named Pope, that "man never is but always to be blessed." Some of the writers of the old days were terribly prolix and discursive. They took a long time and wasted a great deal of space in reaching their point. Mr. Pope, poet and philosopher, compressed a whole newspaper page of wisdom into eight words. No need of the city editor of his day to tell him to take that thing away, strip it of its verbiage and return with the kernel.

Still, Mr. Tarkington's article was interesting. It reminded us of the kitten, the most playful of animals up to a given point in its career. You have seen a very young kitten chasing its tail. That is a most interesting spectacle.

Once upon a time we went to a moving picture theatre and listened to the ripple of childish laughter that swept over that audience, composed mostly of children, at the very appearance of Mr. Charles Chaplin. That sweet rippling music began because the eminent actor had shed a single pie at one of the other eminent actors. We never enjoyed any show more than we enjoyed that crude exhibition. It was delightful to listen to the spontaneous laughter of the children.

And yet we are sure that if a great company of children could be gathered together to watch a healthy, playful kitten chasing its tail round and round, and the kitten could be depended upon to do its stunt for the occasion, the performance would cause greater and heartier laughter than any performance of Charlie Chaplin. For the countenance of a kitten is very expressive, and the look of simulated wonder that follows every frantic futile effort to capture its tail and the final look of simulated triumph that follows success in the chase prove that the feline tribe is not destitute of histrionic talent.

Well, according to Mr. Pope and Mr. Tarkington, man is just like the kitten. He is always chasing his tail, but he is unlike the kitten in the fact that he never captures his tail. Just when he thinks he has it, it is gone.

It is the "urge" bequeathed to him from the prehistoric bug that impels man to strive for the unattainable—complete satisfaction with the affairs of life and perfect contentment with the conditions of life. No man, the philosophers say, ever has had so much that he did not lust for more. Every man as soon as he has attained a certain coveted position, sees another position ahead which appears to be desirable. And every successful man is in constant dread of losing his position or his possessions. Everybody who has a motor car of a given type wants a motor car of an improved type.

Ultimately every man receives a most terrifying shock. He suddenly awakes to the reality of life and has a clear vision of the end of the road. He has been fussing and fuming, intriguing and scheming, sometimes betraying his friends and frequently remorselessly crushing his competitors, and as he is relentlessly hurried to the end of the road he finds nothing there but dust and ashes.

Many of the people of Ontario were disappointed about the result of the recent plebiscite on the proposal for the sale of liquor under control or whatever. A majority of the people voted for the sale of liquor without any control whatever—for that practically is what the decision amounts to. The people who were disappointed with the action of the farmers in denying them by their rights comforted themselves by saying, "Oh, well, we can go to the doctors and lie, and get what we want!"

But some of the doctors have views of their own on this subject. They say they will not be successfully lied to; that they will refuse to make out prescriptions on demand. However, we suppose there are doctors and doctors in Ontario, as there are doctors and doctors everywhere else. According to reports there are also druggists and druggists in Ontario. So that if there remain any who are athirst there, they will doubtless find methods of irrigation, and Ontario will continue to consume its fair share of the brew of the barley and the juice of the grape. Also it will continue to gather its robes of self-righteousness around it and gaze scornfully at the neighboring provinces.

The news columns of The Colonist a few days ago contained an announcement of the death of Peter McArthur, of Eckford, Ontario. How many readers who saw that announcement knew that Peter McArthur, in the estimation of many competent authorities, was one of our most delightful of essayists and most charming of humorists? He was a native son of Canada. Mr. McArthur was so highly gifted, had such a wonderful command of the English language, could write so clearly and beautifully upon any subject, that he might have had positions on any of the great publications on this continent (he was at one time a contributor to many of them), but he loved the district in which he was born, and preferred to live and die there, to the last in close communion with Nature.

NOVEMBER 7

The first Parliament of the Dominion of Canada had its second day of life on this day in 1867, and continued in session until May of the following year. Daily the elected representatives of the people of four Canadian Provinces met together to work out the destiny of British North America. Confederation had not been a party policy. It was a great movement, promoted by public opinion in the four Provinces. The people felt that the British settlements in the new world needed each other's support and good-will. There were a hundred ways in which they might help or hinder each other, and some central means of administering matters common to them all, was necessary. The first Government was a coalition, the Cabinet composed of seven Conservatives and six Liberals. The first four Provinces in Confederation were Quebec, then Ontario, known as Lower Canada; Ontario, formerly Upper Canada; Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The national debt was seventy-five million dollars, the annual exports worth nearly fifty millions, and imports reaching sixty-seven millions. Public revenue totaled $13,687,000 and public expenditure $13,488,000. Members of Parliament were then paid $600 a session. The first Parliament sat from November 1st and passed Acts relating to public works, post office, defence, justice, public revenue, customs, civil service and several other departments of the Government.

3-Minute Journeys

By TEMPLE MANNING

Where Men and Women Hide to Church on Sleeds.

In Holland, the country people go to church on sleeds. The cold climate of the country is responsible for this unique method of travelling. Of course, people in our country drive to church on sleeds in the winter time or whenever there is snow on the ground. That we all know. In the summer they use the old family flyover or the horse or buggy. If they live in a large city and travel by street car, subway or automobile. In fact, any mode of travel is satisfactory to them. But in Holland they find the sleed a safe and comfortable and there is no physical exertion attached to it. No one objects to being driven to church on sleeds. In fact, many people would go to church if they were compelled to propel themselves for miles and miles over rough and icy roads in order to assist at the service. Not very many, you may be sure.

Nevertheless this is exactly the way the sturdy Hollanders travel to their houses of worship. The people of this quaint land are simple-living and religious and any Sunday morning in any village in Holland you will find the roads thronged with villagers on sleeds, propelling themselves in this odd manner over broad frozen lakes and rough, icy roads on their way to church.

The sleeds are small affairs, capable of holding only two persons at a time, and the rider holds in either hand a long pole on the end of which is a long, thin point, with which he moves himself along at a fairly good rate of speed by thrusting the sharp points through the ice.

At the same time bringing the whole strength of his arms to bear on the poles.

A child is given the position of the front of the sleed, while father, or older brother, in the rear, does the steering.

SOULS INTERTWINED

Before relentless fate we will not kneel:
Remaining upright, we can better show
That earthly pangs have ceased to daunt us, though
Our hearts are gripped in icy hands of steel.

We can no longer think, but only feel:
Torment of lovers, held apart, we know
Until, if anguish any greater grow,
We must, it seems, be broken on life's wheel.

More clearly now appears the end of pain:
When we have given all there is to us
Of hopeless love and bitter tears,
We'll find

Our awful agony was not in vain:
We have eternity in which to live,
With souls inextricably intertwined.

Church Union

Sir,—In reply to Mr. Menzies' letter this morning, I have no wish to go into the argument on a subject of which your readers must be heartily sick. I am neither a lawyer nor a theologian, but formerly a business man, and I would to all unbiased fair minds, as being just and equitable, and British fair play. Our church has never been incorporated. Surely those who have a stake in the property, and do not wish to go into the Union, have an individual right to a say in the disposal of the property. This evidently appealed to the Senate when it gave us the privilege of voting by ballot, but it does not appeal to Mr. Menzies and his party, who have no intention of dealing with the matter in an open fair way. The suggestion goes a little further than Senate privilege and asks for a compulsory vote in each congregation, as many who may not wish to desert the church in which they have a just pride may not care to offend their minister, who may be an ardent Unionist.

Industrial Development

Sir,—Industrial development is absolutely essential to progress," says an editorial which appeared in a recent issue of The Colonist. This sentence, in my way of thinking, sounds the keynote to the greatest need of Victoria. Until we have our civic wagon to a payroll and create new wealth through the medium of labor, we will stay exactly as we are.

At one of the municipal election meetings held last year a candidate drew a very bright picture of Victoria's possibilities in the way of attracting the woolen industry. He pointed out that Portland, Oregon, had a large plant producing all kinds of woolen goods. "Oregon," he said, "is a wool raising state; then," he asked, "why not we?" This was defeated, though he was defeated at the polls, had a bright and worthy idea. The woolen industry should be a decidedly productive and active institution on Vancouver Island. At the same election I myself talked motion pictures—a distinctly workable and likely proposition. I, too, was defeated. Among those elected not one advocated industries, except only in the general way that payrolls are ready things to have in a town. Not one of them, however, had anything specific to offer like the woolen mill idea of motion pictures.

The municipal cry appears to be for a Mayor and Council who are strong on retrenchment; that has been the prime thought in civic elections for many years back. Yet our tax rate is higher, our extravagance greater and our commercial returns smaller. We find today more firms quitting business than ever before. We find the Publicity Bureau asking for double the amount of grant it has ever had in previous years. And we find our Mayor and aldermen (who were elected on a retrenchment policy) willing to favor the extravagance, while they make no effort to encourage new or retain the old business concerns.

Let us find men to carry the civic honors who don't have to promise economy, but who will exercise good common sense. Why should a candidate for alderman be compelled to swear he will not steal, or he will not waste? It should be accepted as a fact that he will be true to the trust reposed in him. Anyway, if he's crooked a promise won't interfere.

What we should try to elect are men of physical and mental vigor; men who have new ideas and who have visited other cities in recent years. Get away from the old plodding, penny-wise methods which are costing us dollars in lost opportunities. Let us strike out with good, clean-cut inducements that will get the ear of suitable industries. Give them land and water, of which we have an abundance, and let them have tax exemption if needs be. Better, by far, make efforts to attract a good healthy payroll or two than squander large sums on advertising for tourists. Money spent by pleasure-seeking goes into a very narrow channel, while a factory payroll builds homes, is spent with the merchants for the necessities of life, creates new businesses and makes outlying sections flourish. It's solid, hard-earned money that puts a development under a community. As you see in the editorial, "Industrial development is absolutely essential to progress." So say I.

Theory of Evolution

Sir,—In your issue of the 4th inst. you published a lengthy letter from Mr. Burnett in regard to Evolution. Mr. Burnett, from time to time, has appeared in your columns as the champion of the anti-evolutionist school of thought, casting ridicule on all who hold the evolutionary point of view. While it is impossible to dispute the matter adequately in the small confines of a letter to the press, Mr. Burnett's contribution is so misleading that his story is surely justified.

Anyone who has studied the matter will readily admit that the Theory of Evolution is not susceptible to definite proof, as a sum in arithmetic. From the very nature of the case it can never be; and that there are many concomitant difficulties will also be granted. For it is not a simple, but a very complex problem, probably the most complex problem facing the intelligence of mankind today, since it is an attempt to account for the growth of all life, and the variety in structure and form within the universe. Therefore any attempt on the part of an opponent to harp on this aspect of the question is a merely "beating the air." But since Mr. Burnett has seen fit to lay such stress upon it, it is necessary to remind him of the fact that his own theory is a Theory of Special Creationism—is

WHY LANCASTER KEEPS YOU WARM

Lancaster was made for winter wear. Each garment is closely woven from soft silky Botany Wool reinforced with long strong strands of Peruvian cotton to give it greater wearing power and its soft snug coarseness will defy the rigors of the coldest weather.

Every Lancaster garment is finished with a care that will surprise you. Little additions, little conveniences here and there make the Lancaster the most comfortable and satisfactory underwear to wear at any time.

Lancaster fabric will stand any amount of washing, its pleasing natural color does not easily show signs of wear and even after months of service it will not lose its trim snug shapeliness.

Your dealer will be pleased to show you Lancaster in all sizes, and you will find that with all its added features Lancaster costs no more than any other high-grade underwear.

Here Is Something Unique
Nothing Like It on the Market

We have for sale, at Cadboro Bay, a site of about one acre, which possesses the requisites for gardens of all sorts. A high, dry building site, with a splendid view, and a moisture-sloping slope, already terraced and drained by nature.

Victoria is justly proud of her rockland gardens with their wealth of floral display, also of her noble homesites on the levels and lowlands, with the beauty of their shrubberies, trees, lawns and parks. During the long, dry Summer, the deep watering of the flower beds, rock gardens and lawns is an expensive item. To establish a garden for the growing of ferneries and moisture-loving plants would be prohibitive in cost, and has not, so far, been attempted in the city. This site gives an unsurpassed opportunity for anyone who can realize its possibilities for establishing something quite new in the way of ferneries, rockeries and growing moisture-loving plants. Clear running springs and natural slopes and terraces are already supplied by nature.

The property abounds the Uplands and overlooks Cadboro Bay, with its yacht club, beach and Indian fosse. It is close to the golf links, and within twelve minutes of the car.

He has been faced with far greater difficulties. Mr. Burnett may assert that his is no theory, but a statement of fact based on revelation. If so, he is exhibiting confusion of thought. Within the strict and narrow limits of religious faith the conception of a special creation may very properly be considered as a statement of fact. But when the conception is divorced from its religious environment and is used as an explanation of natural phenomena, it becomes immediately and obviously subject to investigation and criticism like any other theory. Therefore, the question resolves itself into this: Which of the two theories fits the facts best—the theory that all forms of life and every structure of "nature" within the universe has been separately produced and made exactly as it is once and for all by the Creator in the beginning, or the theory that the universe and all it contains is a development from the simple to the complex, and that all living forms are the results of growth and change, subject to universal laws, and that all life is continually struggling to adapt itself to changing conditions, sometimes succeeding, sometimes failing?

In the opinion of the great majority of thinking men there can be only one answer. For when transitional forms, such as are shown in the apparent development of the horse from a four-toed to a one-toed animal are examined, and when the problem of degenerated structural members is faced, as it must be faced, such as the leg bones of a whale, all pointing to one conclusion, and one conclusion only, namely, to gradual alteration and adaptation of structural forms to changed conditions, we are driven to the opinion that the Special Creation Theory does not "explain" the facts, unless—and this is surely unthinkable—we attribute to the Deity mere whim. For surely nothing more whimsical could be imagined than the special creation of an animal with useless limb bones.

As to Mr. Burnett's reference to the fact that his own theory is a Theory of Special Creationism—is him that it has no bearing on the subject. For a miracle is in its very essence an act that is contrary to natural law; therefore, any fish created spontaneously by a miracle is ipso facto a "special creation" in the particular sense of the word and could not in any way be considered an evolutionary product.

In conclusion, since the public press is scarcely the proper vehicle for a discussion of this character, I feel assured that the Rationalist Society of Victoria would be very willing to give Mr. Burnett an opportunity to debate the question of Evolution, which he seems to have so much at heart. If he will communicate with me as secretary of the society, I am prepared to arrange a date and place, and can assure him that the most courteous consideration will be shown him, should he care to accept the offer.

ASK CONTINUANCE OF SOLDIER BODY

CANADIAN LEGION WILL WAIT
UPON GOVERNMENT

Want Returned Soldiers' Aid Commission Continued for Another Year—Good Work Done

A delegation of members of the Victoria Post of the Canadian Legion will shortly wait upon the Provincial Government and urge it to continue the good work of the Returned Soldiers' Aid Commission and provide the necessary money to carry on the commission for at least another year.

The Canadian Legion has gone on record advocating the continuance of the commission in the following worded resolution, passed unanimously by the organization at its last meeting:

"Whereas, press reports indicate that the Provincial Government contemplates abolishing the Provincial Returned Soldiers' Aid Commission at the end of the present fiscal year, and discontinuing the splendid work performed by it, which has alleviated much distress among the men, and families of the men, who are suffering as a result of their years of service overseas, and

"And whereas, the Victoria Post of the Canadian Legion firmly believes that an economy which strikes directly at the health and well-being of men who have suffered both in body and pocket, and many of whom have not become re-established in permanent positions, is not in accordance with the views of the citizens of British Columbia;

"Therefore, be it resolved that the Government be urged to continue the good work of the commission under its present management and provide the necessary money to carry on the commission for at least another year.

"And be it further resolved, that a delegation be appointed to meet the Government and present the views of this meeting, as well as discuss with it the present unemployment situation in the city of Victoria, particularly as it affects the ex-service men."

ENDEAVOR TO REVIVE WAR SERVICE SPIRIT

Canadian Legion Launches Campaign to Enlist the Co-operation of Citizens in Movement

The Victoria post of the Canadian Legion has launched a movement to enlist the co-operation of the citizens of this community in a campaign to revive the spirit of service, which so greatly animated citizens and soldiers during the days when the greatest war in history was being waged in Europe.

The Legion, at its last meeting, went on record in the matter by endorsing the following resolution:

"Whereas the returned citizens feel the need of a better understanding between those who served in the battle line and those who carried on the business of the country during the years of the war;

"And whereas it is hoped that a closer union between the two sections would result in a revival of the cordial relations which characterized the intercourse between citizens and service men in the past;

"And whereas the necessity for a supporting body is as great today as was the army behind the army, which kept the troops in the field during the war;

"Therefore be it resolved that the Victoria Post of the Canadian Legion make this fact known and endeavor to enlist the co-operation of the citizens in a movement to revive the 'spirit of service' which animated citizens and service men alike during the years of strife, and which was mainly responsible for the preservation of the morale of the forces in the field and that of the people at home, who relied upon the navy and army to save the country."

The members of the Legion accepted an invitation to attend divine service on Sunday morning next, at Christ Church Cathedral, when the Very Rev. Dean Quinlan will deliver a special message on the topic, "How to Recapture the War Spirit of Service."

CELEBRATE JUBILEE

In connection with the Jubilee anniversary of the Reformed Episcopal Church, a service of praise will be held today at 8 p.m. in the Church of Our Lord, Humboldt Street, under the leadership of Major Watts. A choir of fifty voices will assist. Much work has been spent on the programme, and a great musical treat is promised. Among the assisting soloists will be Mrs. McCoy Jameson, A.T.C.M., soprano; Mr. Maurice Thomas, tenor; Mr. P. J. Kitley, bass; Major Watts, solo vocalist; Miss Louise A. de W. Moore, L.A.B., organist. Major Watts and Mr. Kitley will conduct.

Among the things which the choir is giving are "Gauls' Thine is the Kingdom," and "Great and Marvelous."

CHURCH IS GAINING STRENGTH IN CHINA

Bishop of Honan Addresses Big Audience at New Memorial Hall
on Conditions

An audience of more than 400 people went to the new Cathedral Memorial Hall on Wednesday evening to hear His Rev. William C. White, Bishop of Honan, with headquarters at Kaifeng, whose forty-five-minute address on the position of the church in this densely populated province of Central China was packed with interesting matter.

Bishop White, who has been attending the sessions of the General Synod in Ontario, went to Honan fifteen years ago, and in the intervening years has seen the position of the Christian church greatly strengthened. In fact, so strong was the support from the Chinese themselves that the Canadian Anglican mission in that particular diocese is now practically self-supporting. A great impetus to the work of the church had been given by the fact of Canada's generous help to China during the famine, and in this connection Bishop White made special reference to the Women's Auxiliaries, which had spared no effort. China was not ungrateful for the help given by the Christian missions and missionaries with less distrust and suspicion, referring to the periodic flooding of Honan by the overflowing of the Yellow River over the great expanse of level country. Bishop White said that great engineering undertakings were in progress with a view to overcoming the devastation which is the immediate result of these catastrophes, and the famine, which is an annual secondary condition, bridges were being built and irrigation schemes were planned on a big scale. An idea of the immensity of the area covered by the floods was given when the speaker quoted the population as in the neighborhood of 44,000,000, a number which suffered acute reduction whenever flood and famine came.

Bishop White was educated in Toronto, and for a short time was assistant minister of Trinity Church there before his appointment as Canadian church missionary to Peking, China, in 1897. In 1909 he was appointed by the House of Bishops of the Church of England in Canada to the first bishopric of the Chinese foreign mission diocese, undertaken by the church in Canada, hitherto no British bishop having been appointed to a foreign diocese apart from the jurisdiction of Canterbury. He has several Chinese decorations, one having the picturesque title of "Order of the Excellent Cross," while he has also been given the Order of Brilliant Rays and of the Striped Tiger. He has published a Chinese-English dictionary of the Peking dialect, and a small work on the condition of the lepers in China.

Hussey-Loughheed Wedding

A marriage of wide interest took place in Calgary on Tuesday at high noon, when Dorothy Isabelle, only daughter of Sir James and Lady Loughheed, of Calgary, became the bride of Nolen L. Hussey, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Hussey, of St. Louis. The Right Reverend Bishop Pinkham, of Calgary, performed the ceremony, which took place quietly in the pro-cathedral of the Redeemer, only the immediate relatives being present. The bride, who was given

The Dansants Will Commence Tomorrow At Empress Hotel

Among the most popular social affairs of the winter are the weekly Saturday The Dansants at the Empress Hotel, consequently the announcement made by the hotel management that The Dansants will be commenced for the season tomorrow afternoon will be received with pleasure by the dancing public. Something very special has been arranged for the music, and an augmented orchestra will supply the latest dance hits for the occasion. It is anticipated that a large number of guests will attend the opening function.

Fashions and Foibles

By Shirley Sharpe

At the Lido—Venice, Sherry's and other smart luncheon places women are wearing simple tailored frocks, short and close in the skirt and long and close in the sleeve.

Fashionable New York is drifting back to the city, and the smart restaurants are now seeing women in their new Autumn frocks—frocks that are notably shorter and narrower than last season and quite as beautifully simple. Ten inches from the floor is a conservative length, many dresses are eleven or twelve inches and quite a few go as far as fourteen. Sleeves are long and close and tailored frocks have tiered bands, wrap-around or centre-front closing, tailored coat effects, etc. Covert is a smart color and cashmere and ribbed silks are among the newest materials.

Gwyneth Lemon. The prettily appointed tea table was presided over by Mrs. Norman Rant.

A very jolly Halloween party was held on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Ball, Rocky Point. Games formed the evening's entertainment, both old and young guests joining in the fun. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by the ladies of the district. The party broke up in the early hours of the morning after the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Delightful Dance. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davies entertained at a delightful dance last night at their home, Plineholme, Burrell. About fifty couples danced until a late hour to the strains of Holter's Bluebird Orchestra, whose music was voted exceptionally good. Delicious refreshments were served during the course of the evening's entertainment.

Going to Vancouver. Brigadier-General and Mrs. J. M. Ross are leaving Work Point Barracks on Monday afternoon for Vancouver, where they will attend the Seaforth ball to be held that evening at Alexandra Academy under the auspices of the Seaforth Association, and active Seaforth Battalion.

Returns From Hospital. The many friends of Master Lorne McGregor, of 1946 Topaz Avenue, will be pleased to know that he has so far recovered from his recent illness to return to his home from the Jubilee Hospital. He is still receiving medical attention from Dr. Sinclair.

Bridge and Mah-Jong Hostess. On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Carvoso entertained at her home on Dunsmuir Road at three tables of bridge, and yesterday she was hostess at a mah-jong party, when four tables were in play.

From Chile. Mr. Jack Ross, of Rio Los, Chile, is in the city on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross, of Kelowna, and will stay for an indefinite period before going to the States.

To Reside Here. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Michellin, of Vancouver, have taken up their residence on Bank Street for the winter months. Mr. Michellin is organizer at the Capitol Theatre.

Visits Vancouver. Miss Kathleen Rhodes, of Victoria, is visiting Vancouver, where she is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Chesbrough Janlon.

Returning to Mainland. Miss Kathleen Rhodes is returning to the Mainland this afternoon after being the guest of Lady Barnard, 701 Sea Terrace, for the past few weeks.

ALEXANDRA CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Very little alteration was made in the Alexandra Club executive in the election of officers held at the annual meeting on November 4. A healthy condition in club affairs, both social and financial, was shown by the reports of the secretary and treasurer, Miss Harte, who has been filling the office of librarian for some time, reported that during the year the club had amited with the Halcyon Club, of London, England, and members who are visiting the Motherland are now privileged to enjoy the advantages of that organization.

Officers and executive for the coming year have been elected as follows:

President, Mrs. J. S. Plaskett; first vice-president, Miss Josephine Green; second vice-president, Mrs. J. E. Um-bach; hon. secretary, Miss Lottia Brown; hon. treasurer, Mrs. H. J. Pendray; hon. librarian, Miss Eleanor Rant.

The executive is as follows: Mrs. Parker Hibben, Mrs. Alice Thomson, Mrs. Ellison, Mrs. Longstaffe, Mrs. A. E. Todd, Mrs. Trill Godman, Mrs. R. H. Stewart, Mrs. Hyndman, Mrs. Beaumont Budge, Miss Alma Russell, Miss May Macrae, Miss E. F. Mara.

At the conclusion of the meeting tea was served in the lounge.

An odor has been added to the natural gas used at Little Rock, Arkansas, to render gas escape readily detectable.

ANNUAL POPPY DAY TOMORROW

ARMISTICE PERIOD COMMITTEE COMPLETES ARRANGEMENTS
Hold Tag Day to Raise Money for Comforts for Soldiers in Hospitals and Deserving Cases

Arrangements for the Poppy Day to be held tomorrow, November 8, under the auspices of the Armistice Period Committee, have now been completed by the joint conveners, Mrs. H. P. Thorpe and Mrs. H. Crocker.

The poppy store, which is now open every afternoon at 1107 Government Street, will be open at 8 o'clock on Saturday morning and all ladies who have promised to assist in the early morning will kindly call at the store at 8:30 a.m. to receive tags and boxes.

Refreshments will be served to taggers all day at the headquarters of the Victoria Women's Institute, Surrey Block, Yates Street. All ladies assisting the Armistice Period Committee on Saturday will wear an official arm badge.

The funds derived from the sale of poppies are administered throughout the year by the six organizations assisting in the work, and in past years the proceeds have been expended by the Armistice committee upon comforts for ex-service men who are patients in hospital, a committee from each association taking its turn each week in this work.

Gives Relief to Urgent Cases. Temporary relief has been granted to urgent cases in the way of fuel, rent and groceries to needy ex-service men and their dependents, and while the Armistice committee does not believe in spectacular methods of expending its funds, it does believe in giving assistance in the quietest possible way and where it is most needed.

Each year a financial statement in connection with Poppy Day is published and a copy filed with the City Council. The following have kindly offered their services as sub-conveners at the points named: City market, Miss Lawson; Pemberton Building, Mrs. Muirhead; Yates and Government, Mrs. Ward; Pandora Avenue and Douglas Street, the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E.; Times Building, Mrs. H. Thain; Parliament Buildings, Mrs. McCoy; Fort and Douglas Streets, Mrs. Hamlin; Yates and Blanshard Streets, I.O.D.E.; Postoffice, Mrs. Ibbot; Macnicol; Spencer's Store, Mrs. Chambers; View and Douglas Streets, Mrs. Truquart; Hudson's Bay Store, Mrs. Kerr; Yates and Douglas Streets, Mrs. R. R. Taylor; Johnson and Douglas Streets, Mrs. Terry; Pandora Avenue and Cook Street, Mrs. A. Todd; Esquimalt, Mrs. A. Booth; Esquimalt and Douglas Streets, Mrs. Lewis; Empress Hotel and Causeway, the Rev. A. deB. Owen.

GRAND POPPY BALL WILL BE BIG EVENT

Armistice Period Committee to Hold Function Tuesday Night in Alexandra Ballroom

Tickets are now selling well for the Grand Armistice Period Poppy Ball to be held under the auspices of the Armistice Period Committee at the Alexandra Hall on Tuesday evening, November 11.

Mr. J. C. Sparks, who will act as master of ceremonies, has now completed the dance programme of twenty-six dances and the programme is in the hands of the printers. All who attend the ball will receive a separate programme.

The Grand March will take place at 9 o'clock prompt and music for the ball is being supplied by Mr. Albert Bumsby, who is preparing special numbers for the occasion.

Decorations are in the able hands of Mrs. Prior and a committee from the Florence Nightingale Chapter of

Princess Mary Will Not Visit Dominion

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The lady-in-waiting to Princess Mary informed the Canadian Press today that there was absolutely no truth in the report that Princess Mary probably would visit Canada next year. The report that the Princess probably would pay a visit to Canada in 1925 arose in connection with the return of the Prince of Wales from the Dominion recently when it was said His Royal Highness had intimated that his sister would likely be going out next year.

Maxim Gorky Recovering. CHARLOTTEBURG, Germany, Nov. 6.—According to letters received here by friends of Maxim Gorky, the Russian author is rapidly recovering from his recent illness. He is living at Sorrento, Italy.

Glowing Tribute Paid Dreco by Men and Women of Victoria

Responsible Citizens Tell How They Owe Their Present Good Health, Comfort and Vigorous Feeling to Dreco, the Great Remedy From the Vegetable Kingdom.

FOOD MADE HIM MISERABLE

Victoria Man Could Not Enjoy His Meals, and Was Weak and Run-Down for Lack of Nourishment—Tells How Dreco Put Him on His Feet.

"For several months my system was in a badly run-down condition," says Mr. W. Nicolet, of 311 Bannard Street, Victoria, B.C. "I continually had a tired feeling and no energy to do my work. I suffered from indigestion and stomach trouble, and my food would ferment and form a gas that made me miserable. My whole system was in bad shape and I couldn't get anything to build it up. One day I saw in the papers what Dreco was doing for others and got a bottle right away. I have now taken two bottles all told, and feel like a different man. That tired feeling has gone entirely, and I am no longer troubled with indigestion. I gladly recommend Dreco to anyone suffering as I did."

Dreco is Nature's own remedy for complaints that originate in faulty digestion. It soothes the stomach and induces its normal functions, besides aiding the liver, kidneys and bowels to perform their work. Dreco is purely herbal and contains no mercury, potash or habit-forming drugs.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Victoria by Vancouver Drug Co., Limited, Corner Fort and Douglas Streets

Go there today and ask for Mr. Vaughan, the Dreco Expert, and let him explain the merits of this great remedy. There is no charge, and he will tell you honestly if he believes Dreco will benefit you. Dreco is also on sale in New Westminster and Vancouver by the Vancouver Drug Stores, and in other towns as follows:

Port Haney—Campbell's Drug Store.
Port Moody—Graham Knight.
Hammond—H. C. Betts.
Port Quilham—J. O. Neave.

Candlelight A Thrilling Serial

BY RUBY AYRES

The story thus far: Minnie and William the Third, who adoringly raise him—most at the moment on a holiday. She is an undeniably plain, awkward little girl of nine, and is a frenzied sunburnt boy several years older—not a picturesque pair. But they arrive up a friendship, marked by comical scenes on the boy's part, until, gradually, the girl's heart is won. During the following years Minnie and William occasionally see each other. Then comes Peter, Minnie's friend, meets William. William realizes that he loves Minnie, but she is none of the things that he has been brought up to think his wife should be. Peter, however, meets Minnie and falls in love with her. Though she realizes that she loves William, Minnie, feeling that he will never love her, accepts Peter. Two days before her wedding, William comes to see her, realizing he has lost his chance to see her. He does not let her know how he comes to realize that she loves him. Then she marries Peter.

CHAPTER XVII. The Past Returns

The critics were most unkind to Minnie's first book—those of them who did not dismiss it with a few contemptuous lines, gave full play to their sarcasm and cheap cynicism. "This book, which we are told is a first novel (by far the best part of it is the decidedly attractive jacket on the cover), is the usual story of two men and a woman and a mistaken marriage. It has all the usual machine-made situations and will doubtless prove highly popular with the little city typist who reads in the train or in the omnibus on her way to and from business."

Minnie read the paragraph with a sense of deadly hurt. She felt as if she had witnessed her first child being struck by a brutal hand, and not even a further kindly criticism brought home by Peter in an evening paper could quite soothe or comfort her.

"The End of the Day"—(so wrote someone who signed himself "Cadide")—"If a first novel as its publisher, era claim, shows decided talent and promise of excellent things to come in the future. In spite of its obvious faults and rather stereotyped situations, its author has the great gift of telling a story, and her characters are real people. Minnie Altherin should go far in her career, and we should not be surprised to see her develop into a well-deserved 'best-seller'."

"Cadide" proved himself a true prophet, for after hanging fire for a few weeks, "The End of the Day" suddenly began to sell, steadily at first, and then in ever-increasing numbers, till the publishers proudly boasted that they could not print copies quickly enough, and before the summer was over Minnie found herself famous.

Peter was a proud man. "I always knew you were a clever woman," he told his wife, untruthfully. "You'll make a fortune if you go on like this."

NEWS OF THE SPORTING WORLD

Harold Hart Signs to Perform With Cougars

Flashy Left Winger, Sensation of P. C. H. A. Last Season, Will Be on Deck With Victoria Club This Month—Fans Regard Hart as One of Most Aggressive Players—Fredrickson Will Play Centre Again

HAROLD Hart, flashy left winger of the Cougars' attack, will be seen on the Victoria roster again this season, Lester Patrick announced to The Colonist last night. Hart proved a veritable whirlwind on the skates last season, his first in professional company, and it is anticipated that he will again be an important factor in paving the way to Cougars' victories.

There are no two ways about it, Hart certainly got in solid with the Victoria fans last winter, and not only that, he impressed the rinkside in every risk he performed in by his stellar work. The intelligence that he will be on deck when the training season commences shortly in Winnipeg will be welcomed by local fans, who sounded his praises in generous fashion last year.

Hart is a youngster who deserves a world of credit for his achievement on the ice. He proved that he has plenty of ability when it comes to hockey playing, and his performance with the Cougars during the 1923-24 season clearly illustrated that fact. He is young, has everything in his favor, and may develop into one of the greatest players that the sport has produced.

Fans Right With Harold
Fans were always pulling for Harold when he appeared in the spotlight. And they had confidence in his ability to engineer a rush to success, either by going through the opposing defence by himself for tallies, or else passing the rubber to one of his comrades in the psychological moment, thereby giving the Cougars a goal.

One of the things about Hart that the fans always liked was his aggressiveness and persistence. Whenever he was on the ice he was always playing his hardest, doing his best, and utilizing every resource at his command to win the game for his team. He showed good form in scoring, piling up a commendable number of tallies to his credit, as well as being generous in the matter of assists. He is a good all-round boy, and Lester Patrick made no mistake when he persuaded Harold to play with the Cougars.

Fredrickson Will Be Back
Frank Fredrickson, one of the most famous stars that ever stepped into a pair of hockey shoes, who has been a tower of strength to the Victoria club, is coming back to play even better hockey than in the past. At least that is what he proposes, and the local fans believe that he will be successful in attaining his objective. Frank is a hard worker, consistent player, and well liked by the rinkside.

Fredrickson is the man who has and will continue to produce the goods while playing center for the Cougars. As a goal getter, Frank is well known as a top-notch player, and without doubt opposing goalies fear his shots as much as any other player on the pond. Fredrickson has a good eye, and maybe his opponents have learned that he is this. Anyway, when it comes to effective hockey playing, Fredrickson is right there. The fans will be glad to see Freddie back here again. He always has been the idol of local rinkside, and they will be as much with him this year as in the past in his conquest for tallies and his efforts to win contests for the club whose uniform he will be wearing. Freddie has got a great record in hockey, and hopes to gain fresh laurels this winter.

Hagen and Sarazen Dated for Playing Mitchell and Duncan

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen, ranking professional golfers of the United States, will meet Al Mitchell and George Duncan, two of England's foremost players, in a thirty-six-hole match at St. Augustine, Fla., on December 14. The British players are expected to arrive here November 29 for their third tour of the country. Other matches are being arranged for them.

Hockey Gossip

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—It is reported on good authority that Ed. Gorman, star amateur defence player of the Ottawa Montagnards, has been signed by the Ottawa Senators to be used with Hinchman and George Roucher on the defence. Tom Gorman, manager of the Senators, says his namesake has not yet been signed.

Cooper for Canadians
HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 6.—Carson Cooper, of the Hamilton Tigers, will wind up with Montreal Canadiens, according to Percy Thompson, of the local club. Thompson states at the meeting held in Montreal on Sunday last that Cooper is to be used with Alf Ross as instructed to "lay off" Cooper, as he was the property of Saskatoon, but, despite this warning, Ross will figure on getting him. It is understood that Newy Lalonde, of the Saskatoon club, is trying to swing a deal at present that will send Cooper to the Canadians.

Goal for the Sheiks
FREDRICKSON, N.B., Nov. 6.—Edgar Wade, star defence player, of Marysville and Fredericton hockey team in the past, has been ordered to report to the Saskatoon Sheiks. His contract with the Montreal Canadiens has been assigned to Saskatoon, according to a telegram from Newy Lalonde. Fred McLean, of this city, signed a contract some weeks ago to play this season with Saskatoon.

Grimby Exhibitions
GRIMBY, Ont., Nov. 6.—Newy Lalonde, with his Saskatoon Sheiks, and Leo Dandurand, with his Canadiens, will train here for two weeks, commencing November 16. It was learned last night in a letter received from Dandurand. Exhibition games will be played here between the two teams and with Niagara Falls and Stratford teams.

King George Sees Giants Defeat Sox At Stamford Bridge

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The New York Giants today defeated the Chicago White Sox, 4-5, at the Stamford Bridge football grounds. The game was attended by the King and Queen, the Prince of Wales, Prince Henry, and the Duke of York, and many prominent Americans.

Before the game started, the King, Prince of Wales and Prince Henry, escorted by Ambassador Kellogg, watched the field and shook hands with the players. The Royals gave a hard-fighting game, with frequent smashes into the bleachers which surrounded the grounds. These players, who were expected to play only as two-base hits, by agreement.

SENIOR GIRLS WILL PLAY ON SATURDAY

Four Good Games Expected in Sunday School Basketball League Series at Memorial Hall

One of the finest senior girls' games of the season is expected tomorrow night at the Memorial Hall when the College girls meet the Cathedral five. The College girls have been creating a great deal of interest already this season, having scored two fine wins over the Normals.

Three other fast games are on the schedule for tomorrow as follows:
6:30 p.m.—Intermediate girls—Congregational vs. Metropolitan.
7:15 p.m.—Intermediate "B" boys—St. Andrew's vs. Belmonts.
8:00 p.m.—Senior girls—Victoria College vs. Christ Church.
9:00 p.m.—Intermediate "A"—St. Mary's vs. Belmonts.

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT COAST BASEBALL

Increase of Almost Half Million Recorded in Season Just Closed—High Mark for Minors

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—A record-breaking increase in paid admissions for the 1924 season of the Pacific Coast Baseball League is revealed in the official attendance figures just completed at the office of Harry A. Williams, president of the league.

Last season's total of 2,235,510 paid admissions exceeds the 1923 attendance of 1,825,914 by 409,594 persons. Not only is the total attendance a high mark for minor leagues, but the increase of almost half a million is a record.

Stewart Back On Esquimalt Line-up

The Esquimalt Football Club is holding a meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Sailors' Club. When all players are requested to be present and all supporters are cordially invited.

The club is looking forward to a win on Saturday now that Stewart is back on the lineup. A trial is also being given to Duncan, who had been injured in the 1923 season, and is expected to be in the lineup. The team will be as follows: Nick; Watt and Meher; Hosmer, Edwards and De Costa; Stewart, Watt, Watt, McGill and Duncan.

OLD COUNTRY FOOTBALL

Cambridge University, 2; Army, 1.
Oxford U., 1; Tottenham, 2.

Gloucester, 2; Oxford University, 1.

County championships:

East Midlands, 0; Leicester, 5.

CHANGE RUGBY GROUND

The intermediate Rugby game between the Oak Bay Wanderers and United Services, which was scheduled to be played on the Oak Bay grounds, has been changed to the Canteen grounds, Esquimalt. Captains of the teams are requested to notify the players accordingly.

SAANICH ATHLETICS ARE GREAT SUCCESS

Interest Grew Very Rapidly After Formation of Association—Many Fine Trophies Won

The Saanich Public Schools Athletic Association has a display of shields and cups in the window of Messrs. Wengert, of Yates Street, which has attracted a great deal of attention.

Although only formed a short time ago the association has proved a great success. A goodly sum of money was raised by membership fees, donations, concerts and entertainment, and the various schools were thus enabled to purchase sporting equipment.

The tug-of-war shield was donated by Mr. Geo. McWilliam, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Saanich; the grand aggregate cup was donated by Mr. E. G. Bailey, Burnside Lodge; the swimming and diving cup was donated by the Victoria Steam Laundry Company. These three cups were won on June 3 at Beaver Lake by the respective schools at a school sports field day before at least 800 people.

This field day was such a success that the association has decided to make it an annual event. The association was first suggested by Mr. J. H. Miller, following which the association was formed. The board appointed a committee, Messrs. K. Arkell, A. S. Alexander, G. H. Wright, J. H. Miller, J. N. O'Neill, secretary-treasurer, L. Rawlinson, entertainment committee, W. O. Jones (chairman), Miss Violet, and Miss J. H. Gordon. Honorary presents of the association are: Hon. John Oliver, Premier of British Columbia; Mr. Butchart, of Tod Inlet; Mr. F. A. Pauline, ex-M.P.P., and Dr. S. E. Toimie, M.P.

Y.M.C.A. BASKETBALL

Two Good Games to Be Played on Saturday Night in Association Gymnasium

At 8 o'clock Saturday night Charlie Chaston will lead his gang of ball tossers against Gordy Woodbridge's quintette of bleuet heavies, and a great struggle is expected. Room managers report their teams in fine condition, and just raring to go. Chaston has rounded up well-known players from the local scene, and they look very confident and seem to expect a great win. Their lineup will be picked from the following: Moore, Sellers, Nachtrieb, Hammill, Jerry, McLean, Pats, and Hunter.

For nine o'clock and all players are asked to be ready for their game at the appointed hour.

An "egg beater" that is adjustable to suit the shape of a wide range of cooking dishes has appeared on the market.

Brewers Win Three Games From Eagles In Bowling League

The Silver Spring Brewery opened its schedule with a three-game win over the Eagles on the local alleys by a margin of 187 pins. In the second match of the series W. Neill made a fine effort to lead his team to victory with a score of 199, which included a run of five straight strikes. It was the first appearance of the majority of the Eagles on the alleys this season, and with a little practice they should greatly improve and give most of the teams a good run. The scores follow:

Silver Spring Brewery
West	174 182 171—437
Malcolm	141 120 182—423
Handley	159 182 128—429
Miller	149 160 148—437
Fairall	177 142 158—477
Total	770 736 771—2283
Eagles
Potts	145 143 136—424
D. Neill	92 126 181—400
Forster	155 102 151—408
Brown	110 104 141—355
W. Neill	182 199 127—509
Total	686 674 736—2096

GOVERNMENT VOTES THOUSAND POUNDS

Undefeated All-Blacks Will Be Assisted to Return Through Canada—Two Games in Vancouver

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Nov. 6.—The New Zealand Government voted £1,000 to assist in bringing the "All-Blacks" the famous rugby football team now touring England, home through Canada.

The tourists so far have not been defeated in games played in the Old Country during the present winter, and in most cases have run up a large score against some of the best British clubs and teams representing a number of counties.

The New Zealanders have long been famous as the world's cleverest exponents of rugby football as played under the British code.

Play in Vancouver
VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—The New Zealand "All-Blacks" will play two rugby football games here with local aggregations, the first on February 14, and the second on February 18. An invitation was extended some months ago to the New Zealanders by the Vancouver Rugby Union to play here en route home, and the invitation was accepted.

AUSTRALIAN DERBY WINNER

MELBOURNE, Nov. 6.—Australia's richest race, worth $41,000 to the victor, was won yesterday by Blackwood, an imported English horse, running at 7 to 1 odds. Stand By, the former favorite, wrenched his leg just before the race and was beaten by a head. Spearfist, the favorite, finished third.

RUGBY XV SELECTED

The Victoria College rugby line-up for Saturday is as follows: Despecker, Greenwood, Willis, McIntyre, Farish, Locke, Robertson, Winter, Russell, Parfitt, Fraser, Adamson, Bailey, Hodson and Turner.

Lone Handit Gets $7,300

PORTLAND, Nov. 6.—A lone handit held up the Multnomah Commercial and Savings Bank at Multnomah, Oregon, near here at noon today. Assistant Cashier Nicholas was forced into the vault at the point of a gun by the robber who grabbed all the money in sight, $1,000 in cash and $6,000 in bonds, and fled in a large automobile towards Portland.

Sportive Punches

By the "Old 'Un"

The Old 'Un always deplores general accusations of poor sportsmanship. It is so easy to make sweeping assertions and usually so very difficult to prove them.

On the other hand he is only too willing to lend his aid for what it may be a great inside. Pop Eward, the captain of the Triangle Club, is expected to be back in the line-up after two weeks on a cane, and he has called on "Crombie, Bell, Hunter, Davis and Yeamens to do battle with him. The Leaders' corps say very little about the outcome of the game but they look very confident and seem to expect a great win. Their lineup will be picked from the following: Moore, Sellers, Nachtrieb, Hammill, Jerry, McLean, Pats, and Hunter.

For nine o'clock and all players are asked to be ready for their game at the appointed hour.

An "egg beater" that is adjustable to suit the shape of a wide range of cooking dishes has appeared on the market.

Mr. KILBE GORDON recently in an article "Sense vs. Slaughter" appeared in the Colonist, has been a Columbia hunter and fisherman as a class. He appeared to be arguing from the particular to the general and it seemed to me unfair to give the sportsman generally a bad name because of the wrongdoings of a few, especially when no specific cases were given of such wrongdoings.

Mr. Gordon now comes back at us with the following letter, and we acknowledge the hit. The letter speaks for itself:

Dear Old 'Un:
There is a really deplorable state of things existent at GOLDSTREAM. Fish are going up that well-known and beautiful stream to spawn by thousands, and men (and women, too) are amusing themselves by spearing them, killing them with rocks and otherwise exhibiting the very barbarity I mentioned a short time ago in "Sense vs. Slaughter," and throwing the dead and mutilated fish on the banks.

I have the names of several witnesses who are loath to take action themselves, and so I draw these disgraceful proceedings to your notice and, I hope, to the notice of other lovers of fish and wild game.

Am I right? I believe fish go upstream to spawn in couples, that the wanton destruction of one fish at that critical time means the death of its mate before Nature's providential work of recreation has taken place, and therefore the annihilation of countless fish in embryo.

Am I correct? If so, the harm one thoughtless, selfish and inconsiderate individual can do in a few hours of his rotten idea of sport is incalculable.

Yes, there are hogs in the woods, by the stream—though, thank goodness, they are but a half of one per cent of the true gentlemen of the British Columbia—good sportsmen. Yours most truly, KILBE GORDON.

William Steadman in noting the fact that over Gene Sarazen's hole-in-one made recently after dark at BRIARCLIFF by the aid of a 4,000,000 candlepower light, says he saw a much better one at VANCOUVER during the P.N.G.A. tournament last June.

ALF BLANKO challenged ALEX DUTHIE to a one-hole match, to be played over the ninth hole at Jericho. This is a match shot of 135 yards over a deep slough to a blind and well-trapped green.

The sun had set and the players had hardly enough light to see a ball on the tee. Both swung and hit cleanly apparently, although nobody could see the ball.

They were located in the green, each about seventeen feet from the flag. It was decided Rinko was away by inches. "I'm going to sink it," said Alf, as he capped a match to show him the hole.

"Ye'd better," retorted Alex. "I'm gonna sink mine."

AND THEY BOTH DID.

Leading Soccer Teams Have Tough Opponents

First Three in First Division of English Soccer Are Playing Away From Home—Aston Villa Play Bolton Wanderers as One of the Tit-Bits of Week's Programme—Hearts to Celebrate Jubilee

(By A. B. BROWN)

THE three leading teams in the First Division of the English League are playing from home on Saturday, and in each game the visiting sides will be up against opposition that will test them to the utmost. It is a coincidence that two of the matches will be played in the London area, and consequently will attract big crowds. Notts County is due at Highbury to meet the Arsenal, while Birmingham tackles West Ham United at Upton Park. West Bromwich Albion is in Lancashire as opponents of Blackburn Rovers at Ewood Park.

Tit-Bit at Villa Park
The meeting of Aston Villa and Bolton Wanderers—old originals of the league—may be regarded as one of the best events on the programme. Both had fine wins last Saturday, and each side includes international men of high standing.

Huddersfield should return to the winning vein with Tottenham as their opponents. The Spurs are a doubtful combine, as is Huddersfield on current form, but the latter has a championship reputation at stake and will doubtless come out on top this time.

Tykes in Action
The rival Uniteds of Sheffield and Leeds are in action this week-end. The game should appeal strongly to playing at Bramall Lane is an advantage to the Sheffield men, but Leeds may at least snatch a point.

Bury has a very attractive visiting side in Sunderland, a club that may yet have something to say regarding the championship.

Preston cannot hope to collect full points from Liverpool at Anfield, but Manchester City may best Everton by way of returning the compliment for their defeat last week.

Newcastle and Burnley are uncertain sides and anything may happen; the same may be said of the game between Notts Forest and Cardiff City.

First Division Schedule
The following are the First Division matches:

Arsenal vs. Notts County.
Aston Villa vs. Bolton Wanderers.
Blackburn Rovers vs. West Bromwich Albion.
Bury vs. Sunderland.
Huddersfield vs. Tottenham.
Manchester City vs. Everton.
Manchester United vs. Burnley.
Notts Forest vs. Cardiff City.
Sheffield United vs. Leeds United.
West Ham United vs. Birmingham.
Liverpool vs. Preston North End.

Manchester United's Task
Perhaps the match of the day in the Second Division is the meeting of Portsmouth and Manchester United in the southern seaport town. The United has come through quite a number of trying ordeals of late, and may share the points. Portsmouth has a real good side. Derby County shared in a draw there, and the Manchester men should be anxious to win.

Derby, by the way, is also up against a southern side in Southampton. After last week's knockout the County will be out for full points this time.

The game at Wolverhampton between the Wanderers and Stoke will attract a big following in the "Black Country." Both are capable of producing a good brand of football, and have provided some thrilling contests in the long ago.

Second Division Card
The full list of games in the Second Division follows:
Barnsley vs. Coventry City.
Blackpool vs. Chelsea.
Bristol City vs. Clapton Orient.
Derby County vs. Southampton.
Fulham vs. Leicester City.
Hull City vs. Stockport County.
Middlesbrough vs. Oldham.
Portsmouth vs. Manchester United.
Port Vale vs. The Wednesday.
South Shields vs. Crystal Palace.
Wolverhampton W. vs. Stoke.

Third Division
Plymouth Argyle and Bristol City, the clubs that are running very close for honors in the Southern Section, are playing from home this week. The Argyle is due at Watford, where the locals may surprise the Plymouth eleven, while Bristol City has also a big task in tackling Southend United, a club that has made good progress this season.

In the Northern group Darlington should go still further ahead, even although its team has to visit Burnhead to meet Tranmere Rovers. Rochdale, too, has to travel this week-end; their destination is Lincoln.

Scottish Games
Airdrieonians, the league leaders, are at Cowdenbeath on Saturday, where the Firchire club will give the Lanarkshire men a real good contest. Rangers were there recently, when the result was a draw. High scoring has been a feature of the Cowdenbeath matches, so that the strong Airdrie defence will have quite a job on hand.

Third Lanark has suddenly struck a good patch, as witness their creditable wins against Aberdeen at home and Dundee away. This revival has come at an opportune time, seeing that the "Warriors" are at home to Rangers this Saturday. It should be a real good contest.

Will the Celts Come Back?
The Celts have been out of form—or maybe out of luck—during the past few weeks, but may come back when they tackle Auld Killie at Parkhead. Kilmarnock, however, is one of the clubs that has frequently upset all calculations in their games with the Celts.

Hearts and Aberdeen generally supply the best of fare for their supporters. The members host invariably do well at Tynecastle.

The full list of matches follows:
Ayr United vs. Dundee.
Celtic vs. Kilmarnock.
Cowdenbeath vs. Airdrieonians.
Falkirk vs. Queen's Park.
Hamilton A. vs. Hibernians.
Hearts vs. Aberdeen.

Hearts' Jubilee
The Hearts of Midlothian Football Club will celebrate its jubilee with a dinner at Edinburgh on December 29. Organized in 1874, the Hearts have played a big part in the history of Scottish football. They have won the National Cup four times—in 1891, 1896, 1901 and 1906—they have twice been beaten in finals, by Rangers and Celtic, while two league championships have been gained—in 1895 and 1897.

Bobbie Walker
The Hearts have included many players in their ranks that have gained great renown, and in this respect there is the one and only Bobbie Walker, probably the finest inside forward Scotland has produced. Apart from shooting ability, it is doubtful whether a more scientific forward ever kicked a ball in Great Britain.

The Hearts have hosts of supporters the world over, and there are soccer men in Victoria today who will rejoice to hear that the famous old club has reached the fiftieth milestone in its career.

Edinburgh folk swear by the Hearts and, on the whole, it has been a credit to the Scottish capital.

Famous Players
Besides Bobbie Walker, the Hearts have been splendidly served in bygone years by men like Charlie Thomson, one of the finest examples of the big-hearted player the game has known. The writer has seen him play in every position with the exception of goal, his place was at centre halfback. Charlie finished his career as a Sunderland player.

There were Jimmie Adams, a great back, with Goodfellow as partner. Fairbairn used to be a very fine goalkeeper.

The Hearts have generally been well off for halfbacks. One of the most famous was Isaac Bebbie. There was also Jack MacPherson, centre half, who later captained Notts Forest, and was one of the few Scotsmen who won an English and Scottish Cup medal and an international cap.

David Baird was a notable outside left. "Cockie" Taylor used to flourish prominently at outside right. There were and are other men of renown, and all have done well.

Scored From a Corner
W. H. Smith, the Huddersfield outside left, is the first player in the English League to score a goal from a corner kick. This rule was only brought into force at the beginning of the season.

The incident happened in the game against the Arsenal, and Smith, taking the kick with his right foot, made the ball serve to such an extent that its flight completely deceived the goalkeeper.

Newcastle's Latest Capture
Newcastle United has signed an Alford, Maitland, the Midland fullback. Maitland first came to the front with South Shields, where he had Crawell, now at Sunderland, as a partner.

This is the second Middlesbrough player that has gone to Newcastle this season, the other being Urwin, a forward.

INSTRUCT COMMITTEE TO CONVENE MEETING

Canadian Legion to Call Other Soldier Bodies Together to Consider Placing Candidates in Field

The Canadian Legion has authorized its committee which was appointed a few weeks ago, to meet representatives of other ex-service men's bodies in the city in regard to the question of electing a candidate for the School Board in the field, to call a meeting for such purpose as early as possible.

The Legion has gone on record endorsing the resolution filed by Captain Ian Mackenzie, of Vancouver, and seconded by Major R. J. Burde, Alberni, at the opening of the Provincial Legislature, which petitions Ottawa to curtail the powers of the Canadian Senate with regard to the returned soldiers' legislation, particularly affecting the Balaion report.

The decision of the City Council to seek power to impose the poll tax on returned soldiers, who, though discharged from the forces as medically unfit or temporarily invalided, are yet not in receipt of pensions, produced an interesting and heated discussion, and the executive council of the Legion was instructed to bring in at the next meeting a full report on the matter.

The meeting was concluded with a very successful smoking concert, which was largely attended, and at which a splendid programme of entertainment was provided. The function was voted an unqualified success, and one of the best of its kind in the Legion's history.

IS MODERN CHILD DISCARDING FAIRIES?

Question Arises Through Lecture Given by Miss Holbert in University Extension Course

The modern child, if certain contemporary observers are to be trusted, has no place for fairies in his life. Miss Holbert, Dean of Women at the University of British Columbia, who last evening, at Victoria College, opened the University Extension lecture series with a very interesting talk on "The Beginning of Story Telling," quoted a cynic's picture of the small boy of today:

"Are there any fairies round here?" the elderly friend had asked the little boy who was walking with him through a wood.

"No, sir; but there is an abundance of edible fungus," the scientifically-minded child had replied.

Dean Quinlan, who presided, in introducing Miss Holbert and her subject dealing with "folklore and myths," defined a myth as "an attempted explanation on the part of pre-scientific people of phenomena which were unaccountable to them."

Miss Holbert accredited the interest in story-telling, folklore and myths to three groups: First, those who liked the folklore just because it was a wonderful story, the earliest form of the novel; second, those who found it fascinating because of its social and antiquarian value; and third, those who recognized in the myth and myth material a history of the human mind.

Magicians and Wizards
"The fairy-tale land was very wonderful, peopled by magicians and wizards, ogres, giants, evil and good fairies, Fortunatus, Puck in Boots, Little Red Riding-Hood, Jack and the Beanstalk, a wonderful land in which to live if one got into trouble, for there was the little old woman in whom one could confide and who turned into a fairy with a wand to banish them all away." It was the Once-upon-a-time Land," said Miss Holbert. The first mention of fairies in English literature appeared in Chaucer, and from then onward it had held a place in poetry, ballad and prose.

The antiquarian was interested in comparing the folk-tales of the different countries and finding similarities and divergences. The story of Cinderella's slipper, for instance, had its counterpart in nearly every country of the world, the number of known versions being no less than 560. Miss Holbert recalled that the English version, with the glass slipper, arose entirely through a mistake of the translator from the French original, where the slipper was of fur. But the old French word for fur was very like the word for glass. Thus our more delightful version. The stories told by primitive people of their supernatural beings were usually localized to a definite place, as in Ireland, where there were very definite details as to locale and character given. The sagas had to do with people who were supposedly real people with natural supernatural attributes, like Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table, and Dick Whittington, Nursery stories, on the other hand, were never intended to try the conscience of the narrator. The only condition to which they had to subscribe was that they must end happily. The single exception, a version of Little Red Riding-Hood which she was eaten by the wolf, is not popular with children.

ROTARIANS STAGE EXCELLENT STUNT

Messrs. Frank Doherty and Peter Schmeick Participate in the Golf Putting Test

A splendid stunt was provided at the luncheon of the Victoria Rotary Club yesterday noon in the Chamber of Commerce by the educational committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Percy Abell. The stunt gave the members an impression of a meeting of the membership committee, and the many interesting features of the session, as presented by Rotarians T. J. Goodlake, R. Kingham, Ernest Williams and William Nachtrieb, were received in good part, and created much interest.

An amusing golf putting competition was staged between Messrs. Frank Doherty and Peter Schmeick under the personal supervision of Mr. Percy Watson. Messrs. Schmeick and Doherty recently had a very close match in the Rotary golf tournament, and the echoes of this game were heard yesterday at the club luncheon.

The Ladies' Guild for Sailors wrote the club, requesting donations of magazines for the lighthouse keepers. President James H. Beatty asked the Rotarians to leave their books at the Rotary Club office.

The members welcomed their new member, Mr. George Bucklin, United States Consul at Victoria, into the club. Mr. Francis M. Shandley was elected into the club membership.

URGES AID FOR BERRY GROWERS

of Victoria one-third and Saanich one-third. The highway was required almost wholly for tourists, temporarily in residence at Victoria, and therefore he felt that Victoria should share in the cost.

Small-Fruit Problems
Mr. Coventry took exception to the tone of extreme optimism contained in the address of Government members regarding the small-fruit industry. In Saanich during the 1923 season, he said, prices were small for strawberries and raspberries, and for loganberries, many of the farmers allowing the latter variety to rot on the vines. It was fully realized that world conditions had resulted in the farming industry operating at a low ebb, yet in other countries action was being taken to assist the farmers over the period of depression. Such was not the case in connection with the Government in British Columbia, he held, and he asked what the Provincial Department of Agriculture had ever done to assist the berry-growers of Saanich.

The berry-growers had been fooled in connection with the intention of the Government relative to the beer plebiscite, he said. They had thought that it was the purpose to ask the people if they favored the sale of light wines by glass as well as beer, and he believed that the failure of the Government to include light wines on the document had resulted in many of the growers turning their candidates in the last general election. "You will notice," he said, "that nearly all the members of this House who represent berry-growing constituencies are on the opposition side."

Premier Oliver pointed out that the beer plebiscite had been passed and authorized by the Legislature and not by order-in-council. Mr. Coventry, continuing, said that many people in his constituency had never voted dry before in their lives had voted so on the plebiscite as a protest against the Government for its failure to include light wines. Such an inclusion would have stimulated the berry-growing industry to a great extent, he held.

No Assistance
No assistance had been forthcoming from the Minister of Agriculture, said the Saanich member, in regard to the establishment of a co-operative cannery, although help had been requested several times in the belief that the Government was inviting such calls for aid. He knew where some of the money so earmarked had gone, he declared. Government assistance had been given the Growers' Wine Company, which he placed in the category of a private company.

The speaker charged that the Department of Agriculture had fallen down in respect to the poultry industry, also. Some years ago the Government had encouraged returned men to engage in the poultry business. Many had done so, yet today, he said, there were very few left and it had been found that their products could not be marketed profitably. Under existing laws, which he admitted were controlled by the Federal Government, cheap United States eggs were dumped upon the British Columbia market. At the same time the tariff wall against Canadian eggs going to the States was prohibitive in height. United States eggs came into Canada on payment of a duty of three cents a dozen, and he had seen cases after cases of American eggs unloaded in Victoria for sale here. Feed for poultry was also far too high.

Unemployment
Mr. Coventry declared that the optimistic statements regarding employment in British Columbia were unwarranted. In the territory surrounding Victoria could be seen mere unemployment than had existed for many Summers and Winters. He predicted that during the approaching Winter conditions would be very serious.

He urged that the Government take steps to modify what he characterized as the stringent regulations governing the operation of the Mothers' Pensions Act, and he cited a case which occurred in Saanich last May where a man had died leaving a widow and six children. Through a mere technicality a pension had not been forthcoming and it had not been received yet.

Defends Mounted Police
Mr. Coventry said that the speech of the Labor member who preceded him—Mr. Frank Brown, of Burnaby—was pretty good Conservative doctrine. The Conservative Party, which he said had established the Civil Service Commission at Ottawa, did not warrant Mr. Brown's censure of patronage and was not antagonistic to labor's interests. He repeated, however, Mr. Brown's suggestion that the police were susceptible to party influences, and said that a policeman who could be so influenced was not worthy of his job. As an old member of the Northwest Mounted Police during the boom days on the prairies, he declared the new-

In the other state, New Mexico, the Republican nominee, Senator Bursum, is trailing his Democratic opponent, but making gains as the last half of the vote in the state is being reported. While it has no bearing on the question of the control of the Senate, the contest which is the focus of general interest over the country is that in Iowa, where Smith W. Brookhart, after conceding his defeat from the hands of Daniel F. Steiwer, Democrat, has been re-elected on the basis of the present count of the unofficial returns.

The "Solid South"
Democracy's only hope of adding to the electoral vote it received from the "Solid South" began to vanish today when the Coolidge-Dawes ticket rolled ahead in New Mexico where first returns had shown a lead for John W. Davis.

At the same time it showed a resistance in North Dakota that seemed likely to stem the threatened inroads of the La Follette forces.

With Wyoming apparently definitely thrown into the Coolidge column on the basis of the latest returns, the President's total electoral vote certainly will be 274 and it may reach 322. This would depend upon his ability to hold his present advantage in New Mexico and North Dakota.

Davis and La Follette
The Davis total stood at 136 and the La Follette vote in the electoral college at 13.

With the returns for the whole country still incomplete and practically non-official, President Coolidge had in excess of 15,000,000 votes, several million in excess of the combined estimated total of Mr. Davis and La Follette. On the basis of this calculation the Democratic candidate had 8,800,000 and La Follette 4,800,000.

While Senator La Follette may carry but a single state, his supporters were able to maintain their strength in the House of Representatives. Whether the bloc of Senators identified with him will remain intact depends upon the outcome of now close contests in two states, Iowa and Minnesota.

Should the Bob-Haired Tip Hats to Each Other?

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—Berlin newspaper editors are having an animated discussion over the momentous question of whether the modern bobbed-haired women should tip their hats to each other. Another problem is whether they should extend their use of tobacco to the smoking of pipes. The pipe makers have provided dainty little affairs not much larger than cigarette holders and these are on display in the smart shops, but none have been seen in use in public.

Women cigar smokers are no longer a novelty in Berlin's hotel lobbies. Among the waitresses to the capital are many Swedish women who apparently find little satisfaction in cigarettes and join their husbands in smoking real man-sized cigars.

COURBOIN DESCRIBED AS DAZZLING ARTIST

In connection with the visit of some of the world's greatest organists will be remembered the last organ recital was given here by Marcel Dupre, organist of Notre Dame Cathedral, Paris. It was this organist's second visit to the city and his success here was phenomenal. Next week, on Wednesday evening, another good organist is coming to give a recital at the organ of the Metropolitan Church. This is Charles M. Courboin, Belgium's greatest organist, of whom Marcel Dupre sends a message to Victoria in which he says: "I wish all my friends and the people of your beautiful city to hear Charles M. Courboin. He is magnificent, magnetic, dazzling." All tickets for the forthcoming musical event can now be obtained at Fletcher Bros.

The Stage
Playhouse—"Archibald, Certainly Not."

COLISEUM It's a far cry from the ultra modern society atmosphere to a nursery scene in "The Family Secret," but William Selzer proved that a director's versatility can easily adjust itself to such matters. Selzer had just finished a society story when he was signed by Universal to guide the destinies of "The Family Secret," a filmization of the famous novel, "Editha's Burglar," by Frances Hodgson Burnett, now showing at the Coliseum.

PLAYHOUSE Another of Rupert Hughes' brilliant cinematic discussions of modern problems of life is now showing at the Playhouse Theatre in "True as Steel." The story, which concerns the problems of the woman in business, originally was written as a short story by Rupert Hughes, and published in a national magazine. Later he adapted it to the screen, and directed it for the Goldwyn Pictures Corporation. The central figure of the story, the successful business woman, is played by Aileen Pringle, beautiful Goldwyn discovery, who made such a tremendous success in the film version of Elton Stryker's "Three Weeks." Huntley Gordon plays opposite her in the male lead, and the all-star cast includes such well-known names as Norman Kerry, Cleo Madison, Louise Fazenda, Eleanor Boardman, William H. Crane, Raymond Hatton, William Haines, Lucien Littlefield and Louis Payne.

CAPITOL Like Arthur Train, the famous novelist, Bessie Love thought that she might find real honest to goodness bad men in Tombstone, Arizona, where according to local tradition it is "a disgrace to die without your boots on." Bessie made a sightseeing trip to Tombstone during the production of "Sundown," some scenes of which were taken in a few miles of that earthy centre of wickedness. The only bad man she found she declares, was a taxi driver who tried to overcharge her. "Sundown," in which Miss Love plays the leading feminine role, is now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

DOMINION Rock-Riffe Fellows has THEATRE the role of Kells, leader of "The Border Legion," a notorious band of outlaws in the Zane Grey-Hammond picture of the same name which is now showing at the Dominion Theatre. Fellows' role is that of a "soul-heavy." His one thought is for gold, and he will go to any end to obtain it. Yet the influence toward good is not entirely dead within him. At the close of the picture he gives his life in protecting Ulfen Ludewick, who is featured with Antonio Moreno in the leading roles of the production. Gibson Gowland is Fellows' lieutenant in the picture, and other cast include Charles Ogle, James Corey, Edward Gribson and Luke Cosgrave.

COLUMBIA "Mord Em'ly," now THEATRE showing at the Columbia Theatre, is the happy, gay, and jocular story of a young cockney girl, who, through luck, as a carrier's unkind on the streets of London, then as a servant girl in the capacity of "house-maid" general to three prim old maids, and later on as an inmate of the Worcester Reformatory from which she makes a sensational escape, and then she finds herself once more in the arms of her sweetheart. "Mord Em'ly" is a box fighter of no mean ability. The story is full of comedy and romance and that laughable English humor which is found only in famous Old Country successes, such as "Life and My Girl." The better "Ole," and now in the latest and greatest of all "Mord Em'ly."

BORDER LINE MAKES CHANGE IN SCHEDULE

Victoria is Placed on Regular North-bound Schedule—Border King Inaugurates Timetable

Effective yesterday the Border Line placed Victoria regularly on its north-bound schedule, and at the same time changed the departure of its steamers out of Seattle.

The company's new freighter, Border King, was the first to inaugurate the new northbound call at Victoria, and will be followed by the Fulton on Sunday morning.

The Border King left Seattle Wednesday night and called at Victoria yesterday morning to discharge 100 tons of wheat and flour, and at the same time pick up a small parcel of supplies for Northern points.

On Saturday night the Fulton will leave Seattle and call here Sunday morning northbound. These two vessels will also call at this port southbound, bringing in cannery produce and general cargo.

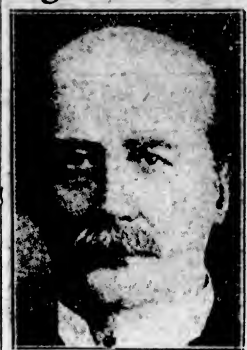

This is a new development in the company's service and augurs well for future development. The Border Line, which is represented here by McTavish Brothers, will augment its fleet as business justifies. It is without a doubt that another new freighter will be required soon. Its business develops as rapidly as it has done since the company bought the new freighter.

Not Necessarily Complete

It is understood that this list of nineteen Ministers constitute the Cabinet, although it is officially announced that it is not necessarily complete. The other Ministers and Under-Secretaries will be named later, and the Government is not likely to be completed until next week. The Cabinet Ministers, however, will be able to follow custom and attend the Lord Mayor's banquet on Monday in their official capacity.

On the whole, the new Cabinet is likely to be well received by the country, but Premier Baldwin supplied two first-class surprises: the first in killing the fatted calf for Churchill, a newcomer to the ranks of the Conservatives, which he deserted twenty years ago, and the second, which is generally held to be a consequence of the first, in the exclusion of Sir Robert Stevenson Horne.

Three Sudden Deaths Reported in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—Three sudden deaths occurred on Wednesday night and this morning, two white men and a Chinese being found dead in their beds.

Oliver Squires, 137 Hastings Street East, an employee of the Government elevator, was found dead in bed in his bed at 7 o'clock a.m. by the elevator operator of a local hotel.

Harry Lunderville was found dead in his bed late Wednesday night. He is said to have been ill for some time and had been dead several hours when discovered.

Well-known Actor Dead
NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Frank Holland, 62, an actor known to three generations of theatregoers, died suddenly today. He had appeared on the stage with Robert Mantell, Fanny Davenport, Hobson and Crane.

A built-over-the-ocean dance pavilion at Venice, Cal., will comfortably accommodate 1,000 couples at one time.

Senator Lodge Still Unconscious
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 6.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, who suffered a stroke yesterday, was still unconscious early today. His condition, according to Dr. John H. Cunningham, is considered critical.

While Sunlight Works

YOU have more leisure hours on wash day if you use Sunlight Soap. Away downstairs in the wash tub this wonderful soap will do the labour. You rub the things with Sunlight—you put them to soak—and then its penetrating, cleansing ingredients search through and through the fibres loosening even the hardest dirt or the oldest grease stains completely. No wash board rubbing, no boiling, no hard work. Then, with rinsing, the dirt runs away and your clothes are ready for the line, purified and snowy clean.

Wash day should not take your labour—only Sunlight's gentle strength.

City Merchants Uphold Ancient Thanks Day Rites

Years ago, when our forefathers first inaugurated a Day of Thanks, everybody made merry. Newly woven and sewed clothes were donned, new pieces of furniture were added to households, the best of food-stuffs were prepared for the Thanksgiving table. Today Victoria merchants are attempting to uphold this old tradition. They are offering you special inducements for Thanksgiving Day in their various lines.

$125,000 Jewelry Robbery
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6.—A bandit who robbed the room of Henry Agate, vice-president and traveling representative of a New York jewelry concern, in a local hotel Tuesday night, got away with $125,000 worth of diamonds and other jewelry. Police are searching for Roy Dickerson, a notorious convict, who was believed to have left the hotel shortly after the robbery.

Low Prices to Mark Turkey Day in City

Birds This Year Cheaper Than Last—Table Favorite Available at 45 Cents Per Pound and Up—Three Years Ago Commanded Price of 75 Cents—Whole World Called Upon to Supply Holiday Tables of Victoria Housewives

UNLESS memory is very short, in Victoria this year the good housewife will mark Thanksgiving with more than the usual feeling of thankfulness generated by the day.

With the price of turkey, the outstanding ornament on myriads of dining-tables on this day, dwelling down around forty-five cents per pound, provident better halves have reason to meet the occasion with tranquil minds.

For, after all, it was only three years ago that the same bird could not be secured for the festive holiday table under 70 or 75 cents per pound.

Prices in Victoria this year are not only lower than the quotations of three years ago but compare favorably as well with the market of twelve months ago. Birds are plentiful this season and their cost to the consumer is low in consequence. This applies not only to turkeys, but to geese and chickens also.

The approach of the holiday finds shops and windows filled with appetizing stuffs. The whole world has been drawn upon to supply the Thanksgiving menu of Victorians.

Cranberries are there from Cape Cod, figs from California and Smyrna, dates from Damascus, raisins from Spain, coconuts from Borneo, grapes from Ontario and nuts from Brazil. The turkeys and other fowl are from Vancouver Island, save for some storage birds that may be on the market from Prairie points. The Province also supplies a bounteous crop of fruits and vegetables.

A novelty in the shops this year is the turkey, a cross between the turkey and the chicken. A native of California, this bird is being successfully raised in the Cowichan district at the present time. He has reached the market in limited numbers for the Thanksgiving trade, and commands a fancy price of 60 cents per pound.

The turkey resembles the turkey in its length and the chicken in facial appearance. Save for a topknot, he goes unclad about the head and shoulders. The entire neck is free of feathers. He is, however, much lighter than the turkey, his average weight being only about seven pounds. An ordinary turkey will tip the scales at fifteen.

days—and that the choicest birds go first. So don't wait till the last minute to trot down to market and then set a skinny bird before your family Thanksgiving day: do your turkey-trotting early!

GOBBLERS BEWARE! TURKEY DAY HERE

BARNYARD POPULATION ABOUT TO BE DEPLETED
No Denying Chances of Bird When Viewed Amid Appropriate Surroundings of Dining Table

By Charlotte Sommers
"She sits in a chair (of home plan and make) rocking.
Musing much, all the while, as she darts on a starry-eyed look.
Whether turkeys will come pretty high next Thanksgiving."

The question is: are you or are you not going to have turkey this Thanksgiving? For now is the time of year when many an away-from-home-for-the-holiday person eyes wistfully the words, "turkey with dressing" on the bill of fare; and every housewife faces the perennial problem of what the Thanksgiving meal is to be.

There is no doubt but that, however puny, the turkey, he may appear in the barnyard, the turkey does lend an air to your dining table on "Thanksgiving Day!" Moreover, turkey is the traditional Thanksgiving meat. But the average housewife who puts the magic name tentatively on her list of holiday groceries, then dutifully goes out and repeats the process half a dozen times, is shying at the expense. The question to her is: can she really afford to have a turkey when a nice roast is so much cheaper?

The chances are she will find that the answer to her question lies largely in her kitchen. A good pump, solid turkey will not only be the piece de resistance of the holiday dinner; he is capable of providing so many intriguing dishes after that event that the family will feel adequately dined for several days to come. Odds and ends of old recipes are admirably adapted to all the hashes and stews, while soup may be concocted of nothing much but the bones—and the turkey flavor!

FACTS TO REMEMBER IN TURKEY PICKING

Try Twisting Skin Under Wing or Leg If You Wish to Know Tenderness of Bird

The chief point to remember in buying your holiday turkey is that it should be plump. See, too, that the end of the breast bone bends easily and that you can readily pull the wing backwards. Supple joints indicate youth.
Remember, too, that you can ordinarily tell the age of any poultry by observing the feet. In old birds they are apt to be hard and scaly; whereas the young birds have rather smooth, moist, flexible feet.

Try twisting the skin under the wing, or that under the leg, or a bit of the flesh on the breast. If you can readily break the skin or flesh, it is tender, and you may safely decide that the bird is young and fresh. Such a young turkey will also have full, bright eyes, and its pin feathers will be abundant. But you can tell an old turkey pretty definitely by any growth of hair over the body. Purplish color on the flesh where you can see it on the back and legs, under the skin, also indicates an old bird.

It is sometimes maintained that the flavor of the young male's flesh is preferable to that of the female's. If roast turkey is your objective, as it probably is for the holiday meal, an excellent choice will be a small fowl, not too fat.
Remember that turkey properly put away will keep well for several

Bolsheviks Raid Poland
WARSZAWA, Nov. 6.—Raids by bands of alleged Bolsheviks upon towns in the eastern provinces of Poland continue and there is agitation for the appointment of a strong minister of the interior to deal with the situation.

CHAMBER APPROVES FOUR AMENDMENTS

Can Now Invite Mayor of Victoria and Reeves of Municipalities to Sit on Directorate

The proposal that the Mayor of Victoria and the Reeves of Saanich, Esquimalt and Oak Bay be invited to join the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce can now be put into effect, as a result of certain amendments made to the constitution of the organization at its annual meeting held last night, which was presided over by Mr. C. P. W. Schwenker, president of the Chamber.

On the motion of Messrs. Alfred Canichast and A. J. Watson, the following amendment was added as section twelve to the constitution: The Chamber re-elected the firm of Bateman & Hall as its auditors for the ensuing term.

Reports of the president, managing secretary, treasurer and auditors were read during the meeting, and adopted.

Building Conditions Improve—Industrial Construction Declines—British Columbia Third—Total for Year Less

(General) Building conditions are developing on a sound and encouraging basis which creates a situation promising considerable building activity. Promoters of deferred projects are coming into the market and in some instances prices have been found so satisfactory that their projects are going ahead immediately while others will be started within a few weeks. The number of projects now being considered indicates a marked revival of interest, due probably to the decrease in the cost of building.

While the situation has not changed greatly as far as wages are concerned, it is evident that there has been a considerable increase in the efficiency of labor. At the present time building labor is producing more and better work. Conditions in the building material field are easier, the government index of cost now standing at 132 compared with a twelve months' average of 161 for 1923, 162 in 1922, 132 in 1921 and 215 in 1920. It is improbable that there will be any sudden or great decrease in building costs. It is more to be expected that there will be a gradual recession in prices over an extended period of years. The outlook for 1925 is that prices will be stabilized around present levels owing to the more evenly balanced conditions of supply and demand. At present mortgage money is easy to obtain on good operations.

An examination of the records for ten months shows increased activity in churches, public garages, hospitals, hotels and theatres, with a decrease in the value of contracts in apartments, residences, office buildings, schools, stores and warehouses. The construction of factories and industrial buildings shows a marked decline, which condition is also true of public works such as roads, bridges and sewers. It is expected that the class of buildings on which contracts will be let next year will be better than the average of the past three years. The increased purchasing power of the farmer should result in more building on the Prairies and in rural Ontario. Improving industrial conditions will likewise benefit the demand in urban centres.

The total awards for Canadian construction for the month of October, as compiled by Maclean Building Report, Ltd., were $21,046,800, compared with $22,508,300 in September. Residential building accounted for 24.5% of the September total, amounting to $5,064,900. Business building amounted to $4,154,100 or 19.7%; industrial building, $774,800 or 3.7%; and public works and utilities, $4,011,300, or 19.1%. The activity was distributed among the Provinces as follows: Ontario, 49.7%; Quebec, 20.5%; British Columbia, 8.4%; Prairie Provinces, 7.3%; and the Maritime Provinces, 4.1%. Contemplated new work in October aggregated $33,125,300.

Historic Anniversary Is Being Celebrated

Church of Our Lord Will Participate in Special Services on Sunday to Commemorate Founding of Organization Fifty Years Ago—Former and Present Rectors Will Preach—History of Church Shows Continuous Progress Has Been Made

THE Reformed Episcopal Church, one of the oldest and most historic in this city, is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary on Sunday. It originated in the first congregation of Christ Church, Victoria, and this grew out of a body of worshippers gathered together by Governor Sir James Douglas at their head, began his duties in April, 1855. In August, 1856, the new building of Christ Church, built by public funds and bearing on its front the inscription "Victoria District Church," was opened for divine service.

In October, 1874, the congregation, under what they deemed an infringement of their liberties, determined to worship apart, so, on Sunday, November 3, 1874, practically the whole congregation, ex-Governor Sir James Douglas at their head, began their worship apart, in the then vacant First Presbyterian Church. This led to the establishment of the Reformed Episcopal Church in this Province; for, October 27, 1874, on the morning of the day of the public meeting called by Senator Macdonald for the purpose of organizing the congregation, a letter was received from Ottawa, containing information of the establishment of the Reformed Episcopal Church in that city under Bishop Cummins, which, being laid before the meeting, it was unanimously resolved to join that body.

The first regular meeting of the congregation was held on November 12, 1874, the Rev. E. Criddle in the chair, when Messrs. W. H. Pearce and C. Hayward (father of the present Mayor) were appointed church wardens; on December 22, 1874, the site, offered by Sir James Douglas, was 1895, was engaged as the bishop's assistant for six months, but continued in office until October 24, 1901, when he resigned on receiving a call to a chair in the Reformed Episcopal Seminary in Philadelphia, afterwards becoming its principal. The three young students who recently made the automobile trip to this city and back, preaching the gospel all along the route, were from that seminary and spoke very lovingly of Dr. Reid.

Bishop Resigns
The bishop now placed his resignation of the rectorship in the hands of the congregation; it was accepted with the greatest regret. A call was then extended to Rev. H. J. Wood, of Chicago, and in May, 1902, he was finally inducted as rector. On his lamented death in February, 1905, the vacant post was offered to Rev. T. W. Gladstone, of London, Eng., who began his ministrations on Sunday, September 10, 1905. On May 6, 1923, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Criddle passed away, greatly lamented by all who knew him, having endeared himself to all classes of the community by his good deeds and Christian life.

Rev. Mr. Gladstone resigned the rectorship in 1914, preaching his farewell sermon on November 1, and was at once succeeded by the present rector, the Rev. A. de B. Owen, who has just completed his tenth year in office. In connection with the jubilee celebration on Sunday, Rev. A. de B. Owen will preach at the morning service, taking for his text, "And they thanked God, and took courage."

The late rector, Rev. T. W. Gladstone, will preach at the evening service at 7, taking for his theme "Ebenzer."

In connection with this jubilee anniversary, the young people of the church are giving a banquet to the members of the congregation on

CHURCH OF OUR LORD, REFORMED EPISCOPAL CHURCH

CHAMBER ACHIEVES YEAR'S OBJECTIVES

PAST TWELVE-MONTH PERIOD OF ACCOMPLISHMENT

Membership Shows Slight Decrease,
But Receipts Exceed Expenditures—Want Members

Satisfaction with the record of the chamber of commerce during the past year was expressed at the annual meeting of the city's premier commercial body last night by Mr. George I. Warren, the managing secretary.

The financial statement submitted by Mr. F. Elworthy showed that receipts for the year had been $17,720.77 and expenditures $18,602.75. A cash balance remained of $1,115.02.

Membership Drive
"While our membership records," said Mr. Warren, "show that at the commencement of 1923 the organization had 291 paid-up members, at the beginning of 1924 there were 360 members, a net decrease of eight per cent, the present board of directors feel that at the beginning of 1925 a strong effort should be made to create interest in the chamber throughout the community by increasing the membership, and it is hoped that the present members will assist in securing a large number of applications for membership when called upon to do so."

"At the beginning of the year your board of directors adopted a programme of activities, among which were included the following, which appear to be well under way:

- "1. Establishment of Mill Bay ferry.
- "2. Amusement Centre and swimming bath.
- "3. Steamship connection between Atlantic and Pacific ports.
- "4. Establishment of customs office at New York.
- "5. Plans and facilities for increased East Coast trade.
- "6. Installation of broadcasting station in Victoria.
- "7. Early construction of highway connecting coast with the interior.

"All of these projects are now successfully carried out, some of which were the direct result of the chamber's activities.

Amusement Centre
"The result of one activity that is going to stand as a reminder of what conscientious and untiring service of citizens may accomplish, and which has resulted in what is to prove now a true realization, is the construction of the Amusement Centre. Members of the chamber may well be proud of the part they played in this undertaking. Especially is this applicable to those members who have been connected with this venture since its inception through to the stage when the citizens were faced with the decision in the form of a special by-law. Worthy of mention is the fact that the chamber's representatives, under the chairmanship of Major Holmes, are still active as the project advances step by step.

"In securing the establishment of the Mill Bay ferry, an active and energetic committee, working with the Publicity Bureau were successful both in convincing the shipping interests of the possible future of this development and in securing the assistance of the Provincial Government in the construction of the necessary and suitable wharves.

"After continued efforts on the part of an active committee from this organization, the Sanich and Provincial authorities were prevailed upon to pave two miles of the West Sanich Road, and that committee is now active with the object in view of securing the hard-surfacing from the end of that paving into Mr. Butchart's gardens.

"Your officers and board of directors made a strenuous and successful campaign in support of Sir Henry Thornton's recommendation for the two important Canadian National Railway extensions on the Island, and after annoying delays, both Houses of the Dominion Parliament have authorized this important extension which means considerable to the development of the Island.

"During the year it was reported that the city representation in the Provincial Parliament was to be reduced, and your directors were active in preventing this and also in assisting other sections of the Island in their unsuccessful efforts to prevent the Island's representation in the Legislature being reduced.

Work Secured Here
"The chamber co-operated with Tarrow's, Ltd., in securing the consent of the Dominion Government to release the 88. City of Victoria from drydock in order that the Siberian Prince might be repaired at this port, resulting in a local firm getting the contract for considerable repairs to the latter mentioned vessel, which meant employment to a number of people in the community.

"A saving of one to three days was effected following the appeal made to Ottawa to have parcel post packages from the Orient forwarded direct to Victoria instead of being carried through to Vancouver and reshipped here. The Victoria post office is now receiving these parcels direct.

"The Summer hand concert committee, under the chairmanship of Mr. Fred Lamshong, are deserving of credit for their excellent concert arrangements last season and their continued interest this year under somewhat adverse conditions."

Saskatchewan Synod Votes 138 to 1 for Union

MOORE JAW, Nov. 6.—Union was adopted by the Saskatchewan Synod of the Presbyterian Church on Wednesday afternoon by a majority of 138. Only one delegate to the synod voted against the consummation of union, though possibly a dozen refrained from voting.

SMUGGLERS EVADE NEW LUXURY TAX

JAPAN BUILDS SPEEDBOATS TO
CHASE EVADERS

Mr. Yelzo Matsuyama Outlines New Levy—Says Buying Trip Will Not Be So Extensive

The Japanese Government has found it necessary to build speed boats to prevent the smuggling of luxuries into Japan, thus evading the new luxury tax, which went into effect there last July 31, much in the same manner as the United States has had to build speed boats to prevent running according to Mr. Yelzo Matsuyama, one of Kobe's most prominent general merchants, who passed through Victoria yesterday aboard the President Jefferson, en route to New York on his annual buying trip.

"This year," he said, "my buying will not be so heavy, owing to the new luxury tax."

In explaining the new luxury tariff Mr. Matsuyama said all vegetables, fruits and nuts preserved with sugar molasses, syrup or honey are subject to the new rate, while citrus and lemons only come under the old rate temporarily.

"The canned fruits and vegetables hit the United States particularly hard, while raisins, which are also imported from California, will be affected very much."

Unseasoned cocoa, both in beans and powder, as well as other forms of cocoa, are included under the new rate. This obstacle is easily overcome, Mr. Matsuyama pointed out, by manufacturing cocoa with the granulated sugar showing in it, much the same as is used by sailors aboard ship. In this manner cocoa is now being imported without having the luxury tax imposed. Honey, although not used to any great extent in Japan, has also fallen under the luxury tax hammer.

All confectioneries are not regarded as luxuries. Most of those that come from Europe and America, however, are decidedly luxurious, at least their receptacles. Jams, fruit jellies and other such sweetmeats are subject to the new rate.

Another commodity which affects the foreign section of Japan badly is cheese, which also comes under the luxury tax. Soft drinks and other beverages not containing alcohol are also likewise affected, so that there are very few luxuries, even to furs, that the foreign element is not made to pay for.

FISH TRAP DECISION RESERVED BY COURT

Magistrate Will Give Judgment Tuesday—Crown Argues Provincial Statute Governs Case

No decision has yet been given in the police court in the case against Hong Jip Vick in connection with the retaining of fish in crates in the harbor. Yesterday morning Mr. C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, replied to the argument made by Mr. Frank Higgins, K.C., who represented the Chinese. Magistrate Jay reserved judgment until next Tuesday.

Mr. Harrison contended that the bounds of the city of Victoria could be differently interpreted. With respect to navigation and such matters, which came directly under the Dominion, the Province might not be able to exercise any authority. Yet with respect to local matters, the harbor would come within the meaning of part of the municipality.

Under the Provincial statutes the bounds of the city of Victoria showed a line crossing the harbor near the Outer Wharf. The inner harbor was included. Any Provincial acts or orders-in-council dealing with the city would do so having regard to this definition as to bounds.

The court said he did not take the point very seriously, that the order-in-council, under which this action had been taken, had to do with the regulating of fishing. It was, he took it, a health measure.

Mr. Higgins, following up his argument of a few days ago, pointed out that the order specified that it applied to waters of British Columbia.

Mr. Harrison said that where jurisdiction was divided between the Province and the Dominion the Province acted as it saw fit unless the Dominion ruled otherwise. "Until the Dominion entered the field, the Provincial regulations had force."

On June 13, 1875, the congregation resolved unanimously that Rev. Mr. Criddle should accept the office of Missionary Bishop for the Pacific Coast, as offered by the convention of the Reformed Episcopal Church held in Chicago during the preceding month; and in July, 1876, he was consecrated at Ottawa by Bishops Cheyne and Nicholson, assisted by other ministers, and thus the Reformed Episcopal Church was fully organized here.

Rev. Dr. Reid was appointed assistant minister on August 30, 1887, holding office until July, 1891. Rev. J. D. Wilson, D.D., on October 23,

Asks Japan Government for Increased Subsidy to Carry Out Superior Shipping Plan—Want to Build Five New Liners of 18,000 Gross Tons for Trans-Pacific Run to This Port and Seattle

WILL MEAN NEW FLEET FOR JAPAN-VICTORIA SERVICE

ENCROACHMENT of British and American shipping competition on the prosperity of Japanese transpacific steamship services and considerations of national defence, make the construction of larger and faster liners and the increase of subsidies to the Japanese merchant marine imperative, Mr. Yonejiro Ito, ex-president of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, Japan's greatest shipping corporation, said just before his retirement in a presentation to Premier Kato, according to news brought here by the arrival of the President Jefferson from the Orient yesterday.

The new president of the N. Y. K. has been installed, as also has the new vice-president and two new directors. President Ito's recommendation will be supported by the new administration, and his programme means a big development not only in the N. Y. K. transpacific trade, but also other lines.

The Nippon Yusen Kaisha is asking the Government to increase its subsidies, now amounting to 1,450,000 yen, or $725,000 annually, since the present subsidy contract expires this year. The company proposes to construct four or five new liners of 18,000 to 20,000 tons for the Japan, Victoria and Puget Sound service, two 10,000-ton liners for the European service, and three new 7,000-ton vessels for the Australian service.

Officials of the N. Y. K. who recently have been vigorously pressing their proposals on the Government, declare that these new vessels must be built to meet the competition of the United States Shipping Board President liners, operated across the Pacific by the Admiral of the Pacific, the expanded services of the British Blue Funnel, and the Canadian Pacific lines. They point out that the United States Shipping Board's annual deficit, approximately $50,000,000, is borne by the United States Government, while the Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Company, British, and the Messageries Maritimes, French, which compete with the N. Y. K.'s European service, receive annual subsidies of $3,000,000 and $2,000,000 yen, respectively, for their Far Eastern services.

National Defence Argument
"Japan shipping predominance on the transpacific route has passed into American and British hands," former President Ito declared in his memorandum to Premier Kato.
President Ito treats the consideration of national defence as follows: "The construction of superior merchant ships has an important bearing on national defence, as these ships by the Washington Naval Treaty, have made it necessary for Japan to increase her auxiliary warships, and the building of superior merchant ships is connected with the auxiliary warship programme."

Fortnightly Service
If the N. Y. K. had four large new liners for the transpacific service, the ex-president declared, the company would maintain a first-class fortnightly service between the Far East and Victoria and Puget Sound ports. The Japan Shipowners' Association and Imperial Maritime Affairs Commission have supported the Nippon Yusen Kaisha's contentions in memoranda to Premier Kato and other ministers. The N. Y. K. programme is not new, having been advocated for since the end of the Great War. The plans were approved by the ministry of Admiral Baron Kato in 1922, but with his death and the fall of his ministry the proposal was shelved.

JEFFERSON BACK FROM FAR EAST

BROUGHT CAPACITY CARGO VALUED AT $6,000,000

Many Prominent People Among Passengers—Chinese Lady Commits Suicide—One of Crew Dies

With an unusually rich cargo and a fair list of passengers, including many prominent people, the Admiral Oriental liner President Jefferson, Captain P. R. Nichols commanding, docked from the Far East yesterday morning.

The vessel had a capacity cargo amounting to 4,000 tons, 2,000 tons of which were loaded at Manila, indicating the increasing business being done with the Philippine Islands. Total value of the cargo amounted to $6,000,000.

There were 250 passengers on board altogether, including 41 first class and 139 steerage passengers. Among those prominent on board were: Dr. Francis Sayre, adviser in foreign affairs to His Majesty the Emperor of Japan; Prince S. Kunjara, great-grandson of the former King of Siam and son of the Grand Marshal of the Court; Mr. Yozo Matsuyama; Mr. John E. Hines, wool exporter from Tientsin, en route to Thomsville, Conn.; Mr. John E. Gardner, of the Robert Dollar Company, in Admiral Oriental Line agency at Singapore; Mr. George R. Fennell, representative of the Tobacco Products Company, at Shanghai, on a vacation trip; Dr. Henry R. O'Brien, State Director of International Health, Board, of the Rockefeller Institute, New York; and Mr. Walter W. Fowler, head of the American Car Company, of Chicago, large exporters to China, en route to Chicago from Peking. Mr. Fowler had most interesting experiences in the heart of the Chinese war zone. He was unable to travel by automobile, but had to go by train. He passed seven trains of wounded soldiers at the Tientsin Central, unable to get through owing to a blockade on the part of the enemy. Hundreds died as a result.

The President Jefferson had an all round rough trip, both outbound and inbound. Two deaths were recorded on board the liner this trip. On the outward voyage, a Chinese lady committed suicide by jumping overboard, while on the return trip one of the crew died of heart failure.

O. S. K. Subsidy
The Osaka Shosen Kaisha, another of the "Big Three" of the Japanese merchant marine, also operates a large fleet of ships on the transpacific route. It has applied for increased subsidies approved by the session of the Imperial Diet, and is now building three large passenger and freight liners for its South American service. The Government's support of the O. S. K. is attributed to its policy of fostering emigration to and trade with South American countries, an outgrowth of the exclusion of Japanese emigrants from the United States and Canada.

Stupendous Development
This is one of the most stupendous developments ever proposed by the N. Y. K. for its transpacific service and other lines. Not only was it proposed by the outgoing president, but has been taken up and is being strongly supported by the new N.Y.K. administration and outside interests in Japan.

Shipping men are looking forward to a great revival of transpacific trade not only with Japan, but with China and the Philippine Islands, and are of the opinion that this new development would be followed very shortly by a similar move on the part of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha. This would ultimately mean the amalgamation of the Toyo Kaisha, and a general strengthening of the weaker shipping organizations in Japan, which would be bound to merge with the two stronger companies.

RENEW'S PRIVILEGE EXTENDED TO U.S.

PORT WILLIAM, Nov. 6.—An order-in-council has just been passed and was received here today, authorizing United States vessels to load grain at a Canadian port for winter storage and hold it at a Canadian port, thus renewing for this fall the privilege which was extended to United States ships last fall. The order states that this is in recognition of the fact that the suspension of the coasting laws in respect to any vessel thus taking on grain for winter storage.

BEST DRESSED LADY ABOARD BERENGARIA

Jean Nash Returns From Europe—Many Railway Officials Return From Traffic Convention

Jean Nash, far famed as the world's best-dressed woman, was a passenger on board the Berengaria, which has arrived at New York. She will appear on the stage under the management of Archie Selwyn.

Other prominent passengers on the liner included Harold Mc Cormick, husband of Ganna Walska, operatic soprano; Mrs. E. Alexander, Miss J. de Broglie, Ray, William Wilkinson, known as the "Bishop of Wall Street"; Count Axel Wallenberg, Swedish Minister to Washington; Lady Elizabeth Fielding, B. Martin, daughter of Pitt Rivers; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Honeyman, Mrs. Trowbridge Hager, Mrs. C. Monson, Edwin S. Pillsbury, of Pillsbury's Flour, St. Louis and Mrs. Pillsbury; Mr. and Mrs. A. Musgrave Hyde.

Many of the railroad officials who went to England to attend the Railway Traffic Convention returned with their families. They included: W. C. Hope, of the Central Railroad of New Jersey; Gordon B. Hope, D. M. Rowman, of the Big Four, and Mrs. Howard F. T. Grant, of the Boston & Maine, and Mrs. Grant; J. T. Monroe, of the Southern Pacific, and Mrs. Grant; Bessie Grant and John Grant; large exporters to China, en route to Chicago from Peking. Mr. Fowler had most interesting experiences in the heart of the Chinese war zone. He was unable to travel by automobile, but had to go by train. He passed seven trains of wounded soldiers at the Tientsin Central, unable to get through owing to a blockade on the part of the enemy. Hundreds died as a result.

CHALMOOGRA OIL SUPPLY FOUND

Dr. Henry R. O'Brien Returns From Three Years' Work in Siam on Hookworm and Leprosy Diseases

FINDS NEW SUPPLY OF LEPROSY CURE

New Chalmogra Oil Tree First Cousin of Species Found in Philippines—Marked Improvement Made in Siam

AFTER three years' work in Siam, assisting the Government in preventing the spread of the hookworm and leprosy diseases, Dr. Henry R. O'Brien, state director of the International Health Board of the Rockefeller Institute, passed through Victoria yesterday aboard the Admiral Oriental liner, President Jefferson.

O'Brien was optimistic regarding the development of the leprosy cure in Siam. "We have discovered a first cousin to the Chalmogra oil tree in Siam, which I think will prove equally as efficient as that found in the Philippines, and used there extensively in the cure of leprosy," he said. "We have been experimenting with this chalmogra oil compounded with ethyl ether, and I might say there has been a marked improvement in not only the leprosy colony in Siam, but in practically all the isolated cases and hospitals. We have not yet recorded a permanent cure, but the cure is expected soon, as it takes some five years to enact a permanent cure."

"The value of this new discovery of chalmogra oil is in the fact that it proves a success, which I believe it to be, it can be marketed, whereas the Philippine island product is unmarketable owing to a rather peculiar line that was passed by the Philippine Government some years ago. If chalmogra oil is marketed outside of the Philippines, the return of the sales must go back to the government's treasury, with the result that no large laboratories have been started to manufacture the compound of ethyl ether and Chalmogra oil for exploiting purposes, and thus benefiting the world at large."

As is most probably known, chalmogra oil itself can effect a permanent cure of this heretofore incurable disease, but patients having taken it in its uncombined form have been unable to retain it, so that some form had to be discovered so that affected persons could take the dose required. In this manner, one of the Rockefeller Institute doctors discovered a means of making the oil palatable.

WILL NEGOTIATE TREATY IN U.K.

DR. FRANCIS SAYRE IS ACCOMPANIED BY PRINCE KUNJARA

Foreign Adviser to Visit London and European Capitals to Secure Extra-Territorial Rights

Dr. Francis Sayre, adviser in foreign affairs to His Majesty the Emperor of Japan, and son-in-law of the late President Woodrow Wilson, accompanied by Prince Swachong Kunjara, great grandson of the former King of Siam, passed through Victoria yesterday aboard the Admiral Oriental liner, President Jefferson.

Prince Kunjara is the son of the grand marshal of the Court of Siam and is en route to Cambridge University, Massachusetts, where he will take up a course under the personal supervision of Dr. Sayre. His propensity is toward a mechanical engineer's career, but this will be delayed later after Dr. Sayre has watched his progress with the usual college curriculum.

Dr. Sayre is en route to Boston, where he will join his wife and family, who were compelled to leave Bangkok last March owing to impaired health, the weather conditions not being suitable for them. He will go direct to London from Boston with his family and there will negotiate a treaty with the British Government for the Siamese administration. From there he will visit other European capitals to negotiate similar treaties to the one he will attempt to put through with the British Government.

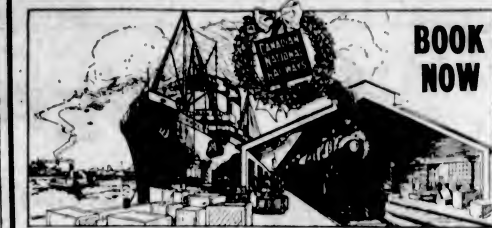

The character of the treaty is to secure extra-territorial rights for the Siamese Government and freedom of tariff. The United States a year ago conceded the extra-territorial rights to Siam, while Japan two months ago followed the example of the United States.

Dr. Sayre thinks that if the treaty is signed by Great Britain it will manifest their friendship in a material manner and foster British trade to a much larger extent than in the past. Regarding the freedom of tariff, Dr. Sayre pointed out that under the present law Siam was governed by a 3 per cent tariff, which they are particularly anxious to abolish.

Speaking of Siamese trade, Dr. Sayre said, rice is her chief business. It represents 80 per cent of her exports, although teak wood also features largely in the export trade.
